GOVERNOR SPOKE TO THE GRADUATES

Closing Exercises of Wilmington High School Held Last Evening.

HONORS FOR TERM ANNOUNCED

Most Interesting and Inspiring Occasion for Pupils of City—Diplomas Awarded to Large Class of Students.

Epochal in the lives of 27 sons and daughters of Wilmington, the commencement exercises of the Wilmington High School were held at the Academy of Music last night, when the members of the senior class of 1912, the largest graduating class in the history of the public schools of the city, received their diplomas. Governor William Walton Kitchen delivered the address to the graduating class.

A feature of the exercises was the presentation of medals and scholarships to those who had won them. The Amy Morris Bradley scholarship medal was won by Miss Alice Sawyer; University of North Carolina scholarship by Mr. Julian Allison Moore; the German-American National Alliance medal by Miss Jeanette Buck, of the junior class, and a second prize awarded by the German-American National Alliance was won by Miss Emily Hammond, another member of the junior class.

The lower floor of the Academy and the balcony were packed with interested spectators, parents and friends of the graduating class. The members of the junior class, now the senior class, also occupied a space in the Academy. On the stage were the speakers, the members of the graduating class, and a number of prominent citizens, including county and city school officials.

Rev. Dr. A. D. McClure opened the exercises with a prayer, following which W. P. Stacy, Esq., a prominent young member of the local bar who is fast gaining a reputation as an orator, introduced Governor Kitchen, the speaker of the occasion.

In opening his remarks Governor Kitchen stated that the audience would probably expect him to speak on some phase of education and added that he would not disappoint them. A man lives his three score years, and ten, said the Governor, and passes on, and during that time he ought to be happy. The Almighty, however, had so made men that they cannot be happy unless they are independent and free from injustice and wrong. Education ought to enable one to be independent and free oneself from all injustice and wrong. The object of educating a child is to equip it to fight the battles of life. In the conflict between the one prepared for the struggle and the one who is unprepared the latter will lose 99 out of 100 times.

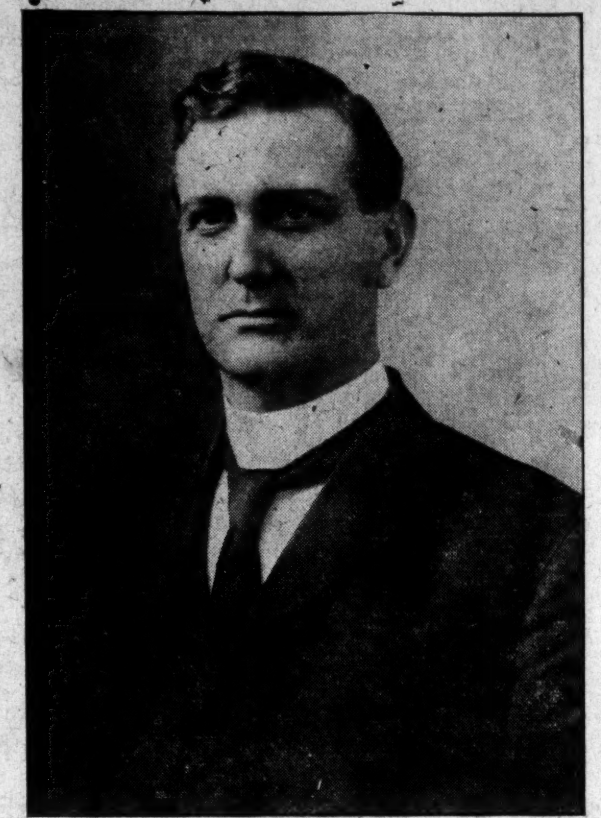

One basic fact, declared the speaker, that must not be lost sight of is that education is to prepare the child for the fight of the future, and it is idle to talk about men who 30 or 40 years ago achieved notable success without an education. Education was almost unknown then and only in reach of the very wealthy, and the struggle was even, with the chances in favor of the survival of the one most naturally endowed to win. Times have changed since then. The barons who wrung the Magna Charta from King John could not sign their own names, but we have come a long way since that time and are still climbing up. Those who fail to keep abreast of the procession go down into oblivion and make failures of their lives.

The purpose of education is to send the child out into life equipped to fight the battles of the future, and the first thing to be considered in the idea of an education is the question of person and individual benefit, for the object of education is happiness. But in the idea of personal benefit from an education it must not be lost sight of that there is a larger and more sublime consideration attached to the matter. If the only question to be considered in giving every child an education was that of individual benefit, it would be unfair for the State to lay the heavy hand of taxation upon all that the public schools might be supported. The State has no right to levy taxes upon one and all except for a public purpose.

However, the speaker pointed out, the State has the right to tax the people for the public schools for it is in the schools that the foundation of the class of future citizenship is laid. Solomon said that the principal thing in life is wisdom but he put one thing over wisdom and that was understanding. The power to understand is what the schools develop, the power to read life as it is, and this power enables the people to secure justice level-headed and universal.

Several hundred years ago, said Governor Kitchen, the people submitted to the rule of kings and royal families, who directed the affairs of government in favor of privileged ones and special interests. Then one day the printing press was invented and other means of education came with the march of time until gradually the people woke up to the fact that the world was created for the people, and not for kings, royal families and privileged classes. We are a self-govern-

THREE KILLED BY EXPLOSION

Saw Mill Boiler Near Creedmoor Bursts and Kills D. C. Pomeroy of Graham, and Two Negroes—Another Injured.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Durham, N. C., June 1.—Just before 6 o'clock this morning, seven miles south of Creedmoor, Mr. D. C. Pomeroy, of Graham, N. C., and two negro men employed at his saw mill were instantly killed by a boiler explosion. A third colored man was terribly mangled and it is thought that he cannot live. Mr. Pomeroy and the hands were preparing to start for the day when the explosion occurred. The accident was caused by turning water into a hot boiler, which was fired up and had on 200 pounds of steam. The explosion was heard at Creedmoor, seven miles distant. The boiler was torn all to pieces, the entire plant wrecked and everybody within 100 yards killed. Other hands who worked at the mill were at breakfast.

Mr. Pomeroy was killed instantly, being badly mangled. One of the colored men was blown almost to pieces, both legs being blown off and the arms badly mangled. The other negro was sitting in the boiler room and was blown several hundred yards and instantly killed. The third negro is badly mangled and will die. A great hole was torn in the ground by the explosion and only scraps are left of the plant. Mr. Pomeroy was a brother of J. V. Pomeroy, of Graham, and leaves a wife.

SENATE WANTS BATTLESHIPS.

Naval Committee May Provide for Them in Appropriation Bill.

Washington, June 1.—The two battleships eliminated from the naval appropriation bill in the House may be restored to the bill in the Senate. The Committee on Naval Affairs is prepared to support the plan.

Consideration of the bill was begun by the Senate committee today. The committee today tentatively adopted numerous amendments to the House bill, among them a sub-provision for the House medical reserve provision. The committee, voting down one proposed amendment, refused to appeal the law that prohibits the payment of salary from Congressional appropriations to any active or retired naval or marine officer while such officer is employed by any person or company furnishing naval supplies or war material to the government.

AVIATOR PARMALIEE KILLED.

A Gust of Wind Turned His Aeroplane Over.

North Yakima, Wash., June 1.—Aviator Philip O. Parmalee was killed while attempting a flight in an aviation exhibition today. A gust of wind caught the tail of his aeroplane and overturned the machine. Parmalee had been up about three minutes on his first flight of the day and had traveled almost three miles from the fair grounds at a height of 300 feet when a gust of wind struck the machine. The biplane crashed to the ground, crushing the aviator beneath it. Parmalee's mechanician rushed to the scene of the disaster in an automobile, but did not reach Parmalee for 15 minutes after the fall. The aviator was dead when his mechanician arrived.

WASH DAY ON GERMAN SHIPS

Dreadnaught and Cruisers Now Spick and Span and Are Ready for The Visit of President Taft and Secretary Meyer

(Special Star Telegram.)

Norfolk, Va., June 1.—Today was another wash day with the crews of the German warships Moltke, Stettin and Bremen, now at anchor in Hampton Roads. The three ships have been given a new coat of paint and everything on board is shining and clean. The Germans are ready for the visit of President Taft and Secretary of the Navy Meyer on Monday. The three German ships exchanged salutes with the American battleship North Dakota today when the latter passed in the Virginia capes and dropped anchor in Hampton Roads.

Rear Admiral Reber von Paschwitz, commanding the German ships, said no shore liberty would be given the sailors until after the ceremonies in connection with the visit of President Taft and other officials in Hampton Roads on Monday.

The American ships of the second division of the Atlantic fleet which will go out to Lynn Haven Bay and escort the German ships to Hampton Roads, were given a plentiful application of soap and water today and when the President arrives Monday everything will be spick and span.

To Meet German Fleet

New York, June 1.—The battleships Utah and Delaware left New York this morning bound for Hampton Roads to join the American squadron which is to meet the visiting German fleet. Late this afternoon the battleship Florida also left for Hampton Roads. Through a change in the plans for entertainment the Florida and the Utah, instead of the Delaware and the North Dakota will be the hosts at the smoker to be given at Hampton Roads Tuesday night in honor of the visiting Germans.

Official Programme Announced

Washington, June 1.—The official programme for the German naval division's visit was made public today. President Taft will leave Washington on board the Mayflower on Sunday evening for Hampton Roads, accompanied by Mrs. Taft, Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, the Secretary of the Navy, Secretary Hilles, Miss Mabel Boardman, Admiral Charles J. Badger and a party of officers. JURY SAYS ALLEN
MURDERED JUDGE

Outlaw Found Guilty in Second Degree and May Get 15 Years.

TO BE TRIED AGAIN JULY 2ND

Four Other Indictments Are Pending Against Claude Allen and He Has Not Yet Escaped the Electric Chair

Wytheville, Va., June 1.—After deliberating two hours and a half the jury in the case of Claude Swanson Allen this afternoon found the young man guilty of murder in the second degree for the killing of Judge Thornton L. Massie, and recommended that his punishment be fixed at 15 years in the State penitentiary at Richmond. Sentence was suspended in order that the prisoner may testify in the other cases growing out of the shooting up of the Carroll county court on March 14th, last, when the five persons met their deaths at the hands of the Allen clan.

The verdict rendered today does not mean that Claude Allen has escaped the electric chair. Four other indictments against him are pending, on any one of which it is possible that he be found guilty of first degree murder and the prosecution, taking advantage of this fact, spring a surprise on the defense when they announced that it would next go into the trial of Claude Allen for the murder of Sheriff Lewis Webb. The defense raised objection to this and the objection will be argued and passed upon when court re-convenes July 1st.

Judge Staples gave instructions for the summoning of a venire to report on July 2nd, and remarked that he did not believe a jury could be secured from Wythe county. The prosecution immediately moved that a venire be summoned from another county, the defense objecting. After witnesses had been examined as to the probability of another jury being secured in Wythe, the court ordered a venire of 100 to be summoned from Washington county.

The case just ended was given to the jury at 2:30 this afternoon and the first ballot taken stood nine for second degree murder, two for first degree and one for manslaughter. The second ballot was unanimous.

Just before adjournment Judge Staples ordered that the prisoners be taken to the Roanoke jail pending the re-convening of Wythe county court and that the President arrive Monday to guard of detectives. Byrd Marion did not accompany them, being again released today under $1,000 bond.

Intercollegiate Race for the University Championship Was Won by the Eight Manned by the Lawyers.

OUTLINES

The body of Wilbur Wright was interred at Dayton, O., yesterday with simple ceremonies.

Aviator Philip O. Parmalee was killed while attempting an exhibition flight at North Yakima, Wash., yesterday.

The waiters' strike in New York has become serious and yesterday strikers and sympathizers battled with the police.

One white man and two negroes were killed by an explosion at a boiler near Creedmoor, N. C., yesterday and another negro was fatally injured.

Col. Roosevelt yesterday held a "council of war" at Oyster Bay with several delegates pledged to him and they mapped out their plan of battle to capture the Chicago convention.

Yesterday was a busy day on the German battleships that are anchored in Hampton Roads and they are spick and span in preparation for President Taft and Secretary Meyer's visit tomorrow.

With the exception of skirmishing in Oriente province, the Cuban regulars and insurgents have not engaged in any fighting. Gen. Montenegro is preparing to move to the front and engage the rebels in a decisive battle.

Claude Allen was yesterday found guilty of murder in the second degree for the killing of Judge Thornton L. Massie and his punishment was recommended at 15 years in the penitentiary. Four other indictments are pending against him.

REGULARS READY TO FIGHT REBELS

Federals Skirmishes With Insurgents in Oriente Province.

PROTECT AMERICAN PROPERTY

Reports of Decisive Battle Prove to be Erroneous—Gen. Montenegro Prepares to Move to the Front and Fight.

Havana, June 1.—Government troops have now been for two days in touch with the rebel bands in Oriente. Skirmishing has been constant, but without important results. The report from Santiago of severe fighting near Palma Soriano proves erroneous. The dispatch describing the bombardment by mountain guns of a rebel encampment, in which 127 men and 18 women were said to have been killed, now appears to have been referred to an engagement near the same place on Thursday, of which only confused accounts have been received.

Gen. Montenegro, the Cuban commander-in-chief, remains at Santiago but expects to go to the front at an early date, as he has completed arrangements for the distribution of his troops in flying columns to permit of the most rapid movements. The government apparently is making every effort to protect American property, especially the mines at Daiquiri, to which point strong forces have been dispatched to repulse the rebels in that vicinity who are numerous and threatening.

There is no confirmation of a report which reached here this morning of the capture of two Americans, Wheeler and Collier, near Daiquiri. It was further said that they were being held by the insurgents for ransom.

The new cruiser Patria, with 600 volunteers under Col. Piedra, sailed for Santiago this afternoon. President Gomez was aboard the Patria and made a patriotic address, which the volunteers cheered lustily.

It is probable that these troops will be utilized to guard foreign properties, leaving the regulars free for active offensive operations.

Combat Held at Daiquiri. Washington, June 1.—Despite a demonstration by Cuban rebels at El Cobre, near Santiago, the gunboat Paducah was held at Daiquiri, where conditions are disturbed, according to advices received by the State Department today. The Paducah was ordered held in readiness to proceed to Santiago, but advices tonight said that the Cuban cavalry had put down the rebels at El Cobre, and that the gunboat would not leave Daiquiri at present.

There was a rumor today of disturbed conditions near Manzanillo, to the westward of Santiago, but no naval vessel will be sent there until confirmation is received.

So far no marines have been landed in Cuba except at the Guantanamo naval station.

State Department officials are somewhat disturbed at the impending closure of the big mine at Daiquiri, which would throw about 1,500 men out of work. These unemployed laborers might easily be drawn into the revolutionary ranks. It is also apprehended that a corresponding number of skilled workmen may be affected in the steel works in the United States which derive their ore from Cuban mines.

The Cuban minister, Senor Rivero, called at the State Department today to secure permission for the purchase of 10,000 strands of rifles to arm the volunteer corps now being raised in Cuba by the government and to enable the plantation owners to arm their employees and organize into guards to protect their property against pillage by the insurgents. The request probably will be granted and the War Department will have an opportunity to advantageously dispose of a quantity of the discarded Krag-Jorgensen rifles. Some of these weapons were sent to Cuba about two years ago.

Refugees Arriving.

Santiago, Cuba, June 1.—The steamer Frank Tenney has arrived here from Daiquiri with 300 refugees. Many others were left behind on account of lack of accommodations. Gen. Ivolet has sent a letter to the superintendent of the mines, demanding explosives, and declaring that if these were not delivered to the insurgents, he would not be responsible for what might follow.

COTTON BILL REINTRODUCED.

Underwood Brings Up Tariff Revision Measure Vetted by Taft.

Washington, June 1.—Representative Underwood, with the direction of the Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee, today re-introduced the cotton tariff revision bill which was passed by the House and Senate at the extra session of Congress and vetoed by President Taft. The Democrats claim the bill would reduce the average ad valorem cotton duties to 27.06 per cent, as against an ad valorem of 47.15 per cent. in 1911, and 47.12 in 1910. The Ways and Means Committee will report the bill favorably to the House early next week.

ROOSEVELT HOLDS
"COUNCIL OF WAR"

Teddy and His Lieutenants Plans to Capture The Convention.

WILL NOT FIGHT ELIHU ROOT

Will Reserve Their Fire for More Important Contests—Members of National Committee Arriving at Chicago.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 1.—The Roosevelt line of battle for the Republican National Convention was formed today. At a "council of war" on Sagamore Hill, which lasted most of the day, there was mapped out a campaign which, it is hoped, will result in the capture of the convention.

The first step is to be an organization of the Roosevelt forces throughout the country. It is planned to send to Chicago, a week or so in advance of the convention, an executive committee from every State in which Roosevelt delegates have been elected or in which there is a contest. By this method it is expected to mobilize and drill an organization which will act as a unit on every matter which comes before the convention.

As a part of this plan the Roosevelt delegates in every part of the country will be canvassed as to their views on the temporary chairmanship, that a harmonious agreement may be reached. Although Col. Roosevelt had decided to oppose the selection of Senator Root as that of the Governor of Missouri, he indicated today that he would waive his objections if it seemed wiser to his supporters to reserve their fire for the more important contests.

Whether Col. Roosevelt will go to Chicago to lead the fight in person is now an open question.

"If there is unfair play I may show up," the colonel said to Robert McCormick, of Chicago, one of his visitors today.

Every effort is to be made to have the hearings before the National committee to settle contests for seats held publicly. And the Roosevelt supporters will fight to obtain what they deem an equitable distribution of convention tickets. Col. Roosevelt said he had been told that some of his delegates felt that the action of the National committee "indicated a deliberate purpose to use 10,000 or 12,000 tickets to stuff the gallery with shouters who will try by clamor to overthrow the convention."

The men who conferred with Col. Roosevelt today in regard to these plans represented the Roosevelt delegates from Illinois, Maine and North Carolina. The Illinois delegation was headed by Alexander H. Revell, of Chicago, chairman of the Roosevelt National Committee, and Medill McCormick, of Chicago, Secretary of the Roosevelt right hand man. From Maine came Col. Fred Hale and Morrill Drew, of Portland. S. S. McNinch was the representative of North Carolina. All the delegates from their States were solid.

Preparing for the Convention. Chicago, June 1.—With the arrival of several members of the National committee, among them Pearl Wright, of Louisiana, in addition to the active heads of the sub-committee on arrangements, the preliminaries to the National convention took on a business like turn today. Secretary William Haywood announced that a total of 225 contests for seats had been filed to date. The arrangements for the work of the committee in hearing the contests practically had been completed.

The hearings have been set for June 6th.

Col. Harry C. New, of Indianapolis, chairman of the sub-committee on arrangements, said tonight that it would be physically impossible to take care of more than 4,000 newspapers which would be sent to Chicago. Several men had a desire to be accommodated with seats for their representatives.

"Originally there were 434 press seats," said Col. New. "That number has been increased to 534 and that is the final limit. The allotments have all been made and there will be no additions or changes."

It was reported tonight that when the National committee meets its first business will be the election of a chairman. Since the death of John F. Hill, of Maine, Victor Rosewater, of Nebraska, vice chairman, has been acting as chairman. Several men have been suggested as possible successors to the late Mr. Hill, whose place as chairman was taken by F. M. Simpson, of Bangor, Me.

RED SPRINGS MAYOR SHOT.

Negro Reported to Have Wounded Him Early Last Night—Escaped.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., June 1.—Reports reached here tonight that George Swann, a negro, had shot Mr. John A. Gibson, mayor of Red Springs, between 5 and 6 o'clock this evening. The wounds being serious, if not fatal. The negro made his escape and citizens of the town have offered a reward of $500 for his arrest. The cause of the shooting could not be learned.

POLICEMEN DRAW
GUNS ON STRIKERS

Strong Arm Squad Battles With Waiters and Sympathizers.

THE STRIKE GROW SERIOUS

More Than Two Score Hotels and Restaurants Are Now Affected—Waiters' Demand Met But Union Not Recognized

New York, June 1.—Police of the "Strong Arm" squad required revolvers to keep back 300 hotel strikers and sympathizers who assumed a threatened attitude after nine of their number had been arrested near the Hotel Savoy on charges of disorderly conduct tonight. In the battle Detective Fox was knocked down and beaten until rescued by his comrades.

Holding the strikers back with guns which they shot only to threaten, the police retreated to the automobile entrance of the Metropolitan Club, where they barricaded themselves behind the gates until additional police reserves were summoned. Hundreds of extra police reserves were sent to station houses within the strike zone tonight to be prepared for any emergency.

With more than two score of the leading hotels and restaurants affected by the strike, the New York Hotel Men's Association today refused to entertain a proposal of arbitration suggested by Commissioner John J. Benin, of the State Board of Mediation. More than 700 employees in 12 hotels and restaurants joined the strike today and tonight.

Maquette girls, college boys, negroes and recruits from boarding houses and cheap restaurants were pressed into service and employers continued firm in their determination to break the strike.

At the dinner hour tonight 65 men marched out of Delmonico's after several hundred diners had been served with the first course. The waiters, employees at Breton Hall, the Brevoort, the Kaiserhof, Colazis, the Hotel Nederland and the Hotel Savoy also quit their posts, while the dining rooms were crowded.

Announcement was made by the Hotel Men's Association this afternoon that all the demands of the waiters, including higher wages, the abolition of the system of fines, better food and working conditions have been granted. Edward Blochinger, secretary of the International Hotel Workers' Union, said that the recognition of the union is paramount to all other demands and he asserted that the fight will continue until this point is gained.

If necessary the strikers declare every waiter and cook, about 12,000 in all will be called out.

Aside from the great inconvenience to the hotel proprietors and their patrons, there is a comic side to the strike. At the Waldorf-Astoria, the St. Regis, the Astor and other places patrons are now being served by men who have been graduated from popular eating houses. Head waiters have had much difficulty in impressing upon the strike-breakers that they are not permitted to discuss the baseball games with the patrons of the hotels.

In many of the Fifth avenue hotels within the last few days, diners have been shocked when greeted by the untrained waiters in this manner: "What's your cap?" And in other hotels, and restaurants head waiters have been astonished to see their college student assistant greet fashionable-attired diners with a cordial handshake, to see them lay aside their trays and take a seat at a table with some of their acquaintances. At one of the restaurants a Freshman of an Eastern university kept half a dozen patrons waiting while he drank a cocktail with an old friend, who was dining at a nearby table.

WAKE PRIMARIES

Early Returns Indicate Two-thirds for Underwood—Others

Raleigh, N. C., June 1.—Early returns from the Wake county primary show that E. L. Travis, for the short term on the Corporation Commission is leading all opponents and George P. Pell is probably leading A. J. Maxwell for the long term. Walter E. Daniel is far ahead for Lieutenant Governor.

Underwood delegates in five precincts were elected by a large majority and it is asserted that two-thirds of the delegates in the county convention will be for Underwood.

For the State Senate J. C. Little has defeated S. Brown Shepherd by a vote of two to one. Wilbur Bunn, M. A. Griffin and Ernest T. Mills were nominated for the House. On the Republican side it looks as if Colonel Logan Harris has defeated T. M. Franks for the Senate.

Washington, June 1.—George F. Mitchell, who became supervising tea inspector of the Treasury Department today, will make a trip around the world within a few months to study tea growing. The tea fields of China and Japan especially will be explored. The trip will be made on behalf of the Agricultural Department, which has an experimental tea farm at Somerville, S. C.

FAMOUS LOOM-END SALE

Starts at J. W. H. Fuchs' Store Next Wednesday Morning

An event in local mercantile circles that promises to be of more than ordinary interest is Hisey's Famous Loom-end sale at the popular department store of J. W. H. Fuchs, 28 South Front street, which begins next Wednesday, June 5th.

This big bargain event will be in the personal charge of Mr. E. J. Hisey, "The Great Loom-end Man," the entire ten days of the sale. Perhaps no man in the mercantile world is better known than Mr. Hisey. His name is a synonym of low prices, and he is known throughout the Sunny South as the greatest sales conductor in the business.

He has conducted the famous loom-end sales in every State in the South. From the historic waters of the Chesapeake to the sun-kissed shores of the Gulf; from the turbid Ohio on the north to the Atlantic on the South his name is a household word wherever low prices are sought.

Mr. Hisey promises the people of Wilmington one of the greatest series of special bargains ever attempted in this section of the State. He informs us that nothing in J. W. H. Fuchs' big store will be exempt from radical price reductions.

Each and every day of this sale he will feature his popular Ten-Minute Special Sales thereby offering the people an opportunity to buy new and seasonal merchandise at less than one-half its regular value.

How he manages to accomplish these wonderful low prices is a mystery to every one, but the startling fact remains that he does do all this and more. On the opening days beautiful free souvenirs will be given to every lady visiting this store.

What this stupendous bargain event means from a money-saving standpoint cannot be estimated in just a few words. You will have to visit this sale in person to get an idea of the magnitude and stupendous possibilities to save money on each and every purchase this sale makes possible. This sale begins Wednesday, June 5th, when the clock strikes "nine."

New York, June 1.—The statement of clearing house banks for the week (five days) show that the banks hold $28,191,600 reserve in excess of legal requirements. This is an increase of $4,389,050 in the proportionate cash reserve as compared with last week.

PENNSYLVANIA WON THE MEET CONTEST FOR CLEANER CITY

Red and Blue Was Champion at Inter-Collegiate Track and Field Meet.
World's Record Broken in the Pole Vault.

Through Generosity of Mr. D. L. Gore Dr. Nesbitt Will Be Enabled to Offer Cash Prizes to the Winners—Outline

Philadelphia, June 1.—The University of Pennsylvania won the inter-collegiate track and field championships on Franklin field this afternoon and thus brought new laurels to "Mike" Murphy, the famous trainer, who will guide the American stars at the Olympic games in Sweden this Summer.

The Pennsylvanians won by a margin of 10 1-2 points over Cornell, their nearest competitor and the only team that the Red and Blue had figured out they had to beat. The points scored were as follows:

Pennsylvania 28; Cornell 17 1-2; Michigan 15; Columbia 13; Harvard 13; Syracuse 12; Dartmouth 11 1-2; Yale 10; Wesleyan 7; Brown 6; Princeton 5; Bowdoin 2; Rutgers 2; Massachusetts Institute of Technology 1.

That it was one of the best meets recent years is shown by the fact that five inter-collegiate records were broken and with them went one college record and one world's record.

The new world's figures were made in the pole vault by R. S. Gardner, of Yale, and was the most notable performance of the meet. After he and H. S. Babcock, of Columbia, had broken the inter-collegiate record of 12 feet, 8 3-8 inches, made by Babcock last year, by going over the bar at 12 feet 9 1-2 inches, Gardner cleared the stick at 13 feet, one inch.

The world's record, which stood at 12 feet 10 7-8 inches, was made by S. Scott, of Leland Stanford University, in 1910.

In the shot put R. L. Beatty, of Columbia, who broke the inter-collegiate record yesterday, bettered his record today, throwing 48 feet 10 3-4 inches against his old figure of 48 feet 7 3-4 inches. C. D. Reidpath, of Syracuse, lowered the inter-collegiate record of 45 4-5 seconds in the quarter mile event, held by the late J. B. Taylor, of Pennsylvania, and D. B. Young, of Amherst, to 48 seconds.

In the half mile J. P. Jones, of Cornell, lowered his inter-collegiate record made last year from 1:54 4-5 to 1:53 4-5.

President Withington, the tall runner of Harvard, after a terrific struggle, won the two mile race and lowered the inter-collegiate record of 9:25 last year to 9:24 2-5.

R. C. McCurdy, of Pennsylvania, who was second by a bare two feet, fell on the track after crossing the finish line and it was some minutes before he was able to walk to the dressing room. He was warmly cheered for his game race.

One of the surprises of the day was the failure of Jones, the holder of the mile record, to win the mile race. He had it well in hand, but was called away in the last quarter by N. S. Tabak, of Brown University, who ran him a dead heat for first place.

Pennsylvania in winning the meet took two firsts in broad and high jumps; five seconds, one third and one fourth place.

Cornell won the half mile; Harvard the two mile and hammer events; Michigan the 220 hurdles; Columbia the shot put; Syracuse the 220 yard dash and the 440 yards run; Yale the pole vault; Princeton the 100 yard dash and Wesleyan the 120 yards hurdles.

The weather was perfect for the meet and a large crowd saw the sport.

PRINCETON LOSES TO YALE.

New Haven Team Wins With Batting Rally.

New Haven, Conn., June 1.—Yale defeated Princeton in the first game of the annual championship series 6 to 1 on Yale field this afternoon. With the score 1 to 1, Yale had a batting rally in the seventh, finding Lear for two triples, a double and two singles, scoring five runs. Princeton's only score came in the second inning when Parker slid home on a single by Shaw.

Deciding that no better use could be made of the voluntary gift of Mr. D. L. Gore to the health department, made when he saw the statement to the effect that the work of the department would be crippled on account of the small sum set aside for this purpose by the City Council, than to offer it as prizes for cleaning up the city, Dr. Chas. T. Nesbitt, city superintendent of health, yesterday issued a statement outlining the contest that will be conducted under the auspices of his department.

In addition to improving the appearances of the city and also sanitary conditions generally, the contest will serve to encourage citizens to destroy breeding places for flies and mosquitoes on their premises and will aid greatly in the campaign that is being waged to rid Wilmington of these dangerous pests.

Prizes of $5 each will be awarded for the largest piles of trash in each of the five wards of the city on two different occasions and a prize of $10 will be awarded to the lady who maintains the cleanest premises during the months of June, July, August and September. The following counts will be observed in making the award: Kitchen slops kept in covered pail, absence of trash on premises, freedom from weeds on premises, condition of privy, condition of stables and outhouses, including whitewashing and repairs, absence of fly and mosquito-breeding places on lot.

A condition is that no prize in either of the contests will be awarded to any person living between Red Cross and Church streets and Seventh street and the Cape Fear river, nor on Princess and Market streets, between Ninth street and the Cape Fear river. This is done in order to give the citizens living outside of the downtown districts an opportunity to win the prizes.

In the different contests conducted previously, persons living outside the above described districts have been handicapped to some extent, and the winners have largely been from the downtown districts. However, trash may be obtained from any section of the city except from the regular city trash piles, and any one under 16 years of age living outside of the above described districts is eligible to enter the contest.

Dr. Nesbitt's statement issued yesterday was as follows:

"A careful consideration of the needs of this city in the matter of furthering health conditions has led to the decision that no better use could be made of the generous gift of $100 donated to the department by Mr. D. L. Gore, than to distribute it in prizes for work in cleaning up the city. In this way the breeding and feeding places of flies can be destroyed and their numbers effectually limited."

"The distribution will be made as follows:

"On Tuesday, June 11th, a prize of $5 in gold will be given for the biggest pile of trash gathered and placed in the street in each of the five wards of the city, five prizes in all. On Tuesday, July 9th, another prize of $5 will be awarded for the biggest pile of trash collected and piled in the street in each of the five wards of the city under the same condition as those prizes awarded on June 11th."

"On Monday, September 30th, a prize of $10 in gold will be awarded to the lady of the house who maintains the cleanest premises during the months of June, July, August and September in each of the five wards of the city. The sanitary police of the city have been instructed to begin on Monday, June 3rd, to bring reports of clean premises on their respective routes. These reports will be kept in the office of the health department and on September 30th, a decision will be made on the following counts:

"Kitchen slops kept in a covered pail.
"Absence of trash on premises.
"Freedom from weeds of premises.
"Condition of privy.
"Condition of the stables and outhouses including whitewashing and repair.
"Absence of fly and mosquito breeding places on lot.
"On September 30th, $10 in gold

"In the trash contest no prizes will be awarded to any person who shall obtain trash from the public trash dumps, which, to our shame, are in the city limits. Soldier Boys Win Annual Ball Game From the Middies.

Annapolis, Md., June 1.—For the fourth time in as many years West Point's baseball team this afternoon defeated the Midshipmen in one of the most exciting games ever played at Annapolis. Trash may be obtained, however, from

WEEK'S NEWS IN LUMBERTON

Not Much Interest in Congressional Primary—Further Street Improvement—Electric Current During Day.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., June 1.—Although it is only two weeks from next Tuesday until the Congressional primary, one hears very little said about it. The candidates are on a still hunt not much is being done, but if all the campaign rot that goes through the mills dead-end, was paid matter, Lumberton would be a first-class office, doing business in a government building.

Yesterday in company with Mr. Daniel B. McNeill your correspondent visited his peach orchard about three miles from town on the Rockingham road. We doubt if there is another orchard of its size anywhere in this section. There are 2,400 peach trees besides plum trees, English walnuts, etc. Nearly all the peach trees are heavily laden with fruit, much of which is already ripening. There are Spring, Summer and Fall peaches, and those that are now coming on are going to be free of worms. Mr. McNeill is going to try to dispose of the fruit here instead of shipping it away. If he cannot dispose of the crop any other way he will put it in a canning outfit and save the fruit that way. It is worth having time to visit this orchard and see what can be done at home if our people will only make the effort. During our drive we went out in the Back Swamp section, and were delighted to find growing crops in such good condition. There is little grass to be seen.

We are glad to report that the town commissioners and board of audit and finance have gotten together on the proposition to pave Chestnut street from the railroad to Sixth street and the cross streets between Elm and Chestnut, and it is to be hoped that the work will be done here. We understand that the property owners on Chestnut are very anxious for the work to be done, and if arrangements can be made to finance the work we believe everybody in town would be in favor of having it done. Who is it that would be willing to see the pick-frog removed from Elm street? He's out of town.

We heard it stated this week that the cotton mills here were bothered to some extent on account of not being able to secure enough water to keep their work up as they would like. All the mills here seem to be running on full time, but quite a number of the people employed spend much of their time in moving from one mill to another.

It is just our opinion—we don't know what others think—that about the biggest law we ever saw is the dog muzzle law in Lumberton. Some dogs are seen with their mouths tied up so close they can't drink water, others with the collar swinging to their neck, and some wear nothing. We saw one poor old dog on the street yesterday with both front feet tangled up in his head gear so that he couldn't travel. Cruelty to animals. Better to kill them than treat them like that.

Messrs. J. L. Stephens and S. F. Caldwell expect to attend the meetings of the North Carolina Underwriters' Association which meets in Elizabeth City next week. Mr. Stephens has been spending some time in Raleigh taking instructions in embalming, etc., and goes to the meeting of the association to stand examination. Lumberton is to be remembered again on having a first-class undertaker and Messrs. R. D. Caldwell & Son are to be thanked for it. Only yesterday they purchased from Mr. C. M. Prevatt two of the prettiest black horses ever seen here, which are to be kept for the horse exclusives in any town. Perfect matches as could be found anywhere. Mr. Prevatt held the pair for $600. In the near future the firm will arrange to open an up-to-date undertaking establishment up-town which will be in keeping with their business along all lines. They are also planning to have an ambulance to be used for moving sick people as occasion may require. This has long been one of Lumberton's worst needs.

Those of our people who are supplied with electric fans can now keep cool in the afternoon, as beginning today the current will be turned on at noon. And if people so desired they could employ these fans on Sunday same as any other day, as Superintendent Pitman would be glad to furnish the current if enough fans were put in to justify the expense of running. Mr. Pitman is in the market for fans that will add comfort or convenience to the citizens of town, if they will put themselves in a condition to employ these privileges. When the benefit to be derived is considered, the cost of putting in electric fans is not so great.

The banks of Lumber river hereabouts are beginning to be used quite extensively by people holding on to fishing poles, but fish seem to be few and far between.

A Rowland firm is advertising ice cream made from the best Jersey cream at $1.25 per gallon. Lumberton gets $1.50, but it must be that a higher grade of some of the ingredients is used. We have never seen any superior to that Mrs. Warren used to make and sell at $1.00.

The Pastime Theatre, beginning Monday, is going to give away numbered coupon tickets good for three contests, the first of which will be Tuesday night, July 11th, the articles to be given away being 100 soda water checks each Tuesday night. Some persons are going to get 100 cool drinks each for only 10 cents.

We saw a gentleman here a few days ago from New York City, who came to visit his father who is very old and feeble. The gentleman referred to was born near Floral College a little over 50 years ago, and the family later moved to Georgia, whence he went to New York 27 years ago. He met a brother whom he had not seen since they parted in Georgia. This was his first visit to Lumberton.

On the 16th of May a gentleman asked us to mail a letter for him on the train addressed to a firm in Wilmington. We were so particular with it that we would not put it in our pocket or let anyone else mail it—we mailed it as per request. That letter reached Wilmington the first part of this week. For fast mail that is the limit.

We were given assurances yesterday that within a very short time work would begin on the much-needed, much-talked-of hotel, to be erected on the corner of Second and Chestnut streets, convenient to all trains coming to and leaving Lumberton. We are further assured that the building will be one of which the town will be justly proud.

Mr. John Jones, engineer on the Southern railway between Charleston and Augusta, arrived Thursday night to spend some time with his family who reside here.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowman, after spending several days here, returned to their home in Wilmington yesterday. A few boys around town seem to be engaged in a new sport, that of trying to see how large swarms of flies they can get to follow them. They use a stick on which several long smelling bunches of fish are hanged and parade about in all directions for at least a block. And how the flies do swarm while the inhabitants hold their noses and keep their mouths shut until the agony has passed! The fish scrap boats unloading at the docks on the front near the railroad yards in Wilmington have for an odor of peach pits and honey compared with the scent these mischievous boys are broadcasting around town.

It cannot be helped at present, but there is a bursted sewer pipe in the line running down the old gully near the power house, and an odor of peach pits and honey compared with the scent these mischievous boys are broadcasting around town. Delegates to the Democratic Convention which meets in Raleigh next Thursday, will get a rate of $3.75 for the round trip from Lumberton. We are told that the attendance from Robeson is going to be very large. It is to be hoped that the fellow who shot the Charleston convention four years ago will not so far forget himself on this occasion. If he is a delegate, if reports are true he must have thought he was elsewhere. It is said that he appeared in the dining room at one of the hotels at meal time without coat, vest, collar or necktie and was endeavoring to hang down by his side. And he wanted it distinctly understood that he was "from the grand old county of Robeson." Robeson turns out numbers of men who make records.

List-taker Wishart stated last night that the taxpayers were remarkably well off with their listing, especially when the fact is considered that all ways heretofore June has been "giving-in-month" instead of May.

Messrs. A. P. and H. M. McAllister spent yesterday at Wade, N. C., on business.

The funeral of little Neal Smith McLeod, who died Thursday night, was conducted from the residence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alf H. McLeod, yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Rev. R. E. Steele, the family pastor, officiating.

The incident was in what others think—that about the biggest law we ever saw is the dog muzzle law in Lumberton. Some dogs are seen with their mouths tied up so close they can't drink water, others with the collar swinging to their neck, and some wear nothing. We saw one poor old dog on the street yesterday with both front feet tangled up in his head gear so that he couldn't travel. Cruelty to animals. Better to kill them than treat them like that.

Messrs. J. L. Stephens and S. F. Caldwell expect to attend the meetings of the North Carolina Underwriters' Association which meets in Elizabeth City next week. Mr. Stephens has been spending some time in Raleigh taking instructions in embalming, etc., and goes to the meeting of the association to stand examination. Lumberton is to be remembered again on having a first-class undertaker and Messrs. R. D. Caldwell & Son are to be thanked for it. Only yesterday they purchased from Mr. C. M. Prevatt two of the prettiest black horses ever seen here, which are to be kept for the horse exclusives in any town. Perfect matches as could be found anywhere. Mr. Prevatt held the pair for $600. In the near future the firm will arrange to open an up-to-date undertaking establishment up-town which will be in keeping with their business along all lines. They are also planning to have an ambulance to be used for moving sick people as occasion may require. This has long been one of Lumberton's worst needs.

Those of our people who are supplied with electric fans can now keep cool in the afternoon, as beginning today the current will be turned on at noon. And if people so desired they could employ these fans on Sunday same as any other day, as Superintendent Pitman would be glad to furnish the current if enough fans were put in to justify the expense of running. Mr. Pitman is in the market for fans that will add comfort or convenience to the citizens of town, if they will put themselves in a condition to employ these privileges. When the benefit to be derived is considered, the cost of putting in electric fans is not so great.

The banks of Lumber river hereabouts are beginning to be used quite extensively by people holding on to fishing poles, but fish seem to be few and far between.

A Rowland firm is advertising ice cream made from the best Jersey cream at $1.25 per gallon. Lumberton gets $1.50, but it must be that a higher grade of some of the ingredients is used. We have never seen any superior to that Mrs. Warren used to make and sell at $1.00.

The Pastime Theatre, beginning Monday, is going to give away numbered coupon tickets good for three contests, the first of which will be Tuesday night, July 11th, the articles to be given away being 100 soda water checks each Tuesday night. Some persons are going to get 100 cool drinks each for only 10 cents.

We saw a gentleman here a few days ago from New York City, who came to visit his father who is very old and feeble. The gentleman referred to was born near Floral College a little over 50 years ago, and the family later moved to Georgia, whence he went to New York 27 years ago. He met a brother whom he had not seen since they parted in Georgia. This was his first visit to Lumberton.

On the 16th of May a gentleman asked us to mail a letter for him on the train addressed to a firm in Wilmington. We were so particular with it that we would not put it in our pocket or let anyone else mail it—we mailed it as per request. That letter reached Wilmington the first part of this week. For fast mail that is the limit.

We were given assurances yesterday that within a very short time work would begin on the much-needed, much-talked-of hotel, to be erected on the corner of Second and Chestnut streets, convenient to all trains coming to and leaving Lumberton. We are further assured that the building will be one of which the town will be justly proud.

Mr. John Jones, engineer on the Southern railway between Charleston and Augusta, arrived Thursday night to spend some time with his family who reside here.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowman, after spending several days here, returned to their home in Wilmington yesterday. A few boys around town seem to be engaged in a new sport, that of trying to see how large swarms of flies they can get to follow them. They use a stick on which several long smelling bunches of fish are hanged and parade about in all directions for at least a block. And how the flies do swarm while the inhabitants hold their noses and keep their mouths shut until the agony has passed! The fish scrap boats unloading at the docks on the front near the railroad yards in Wilmington have for an odor of peach pits and honey compared with the scent these mischievous boys are broadcasting around town.

Delegates to the Democratic Convention which meets in Raleigh next Thursday, will get a rate of $3.75 for the round trip from Lumberton. We are told that the attendance from Robeson is going to be very large. It is to be hoped that the fellow who shot the Charleston convention four years ago will not so far forget himself on this occasion. If he is a delegate, if reports are true he must have thought he was elsewhere. It is said that he appeared in the dining room at one of the hotels at meal time without coat, vest, collar or necktie and was endeavoring to hang down by his side. And he wanted it distinctly understood that he was "from the grand old county of Robeson." Robeson turns out numbers of men who make records.

List-taker Wishart stated last night that the taxpayers were remarkably well off with their listing, especially when the fact is considered that all ways heretofore June has been "giving-in-month" instead of May.

Messrs. A. P. and H. M. McAllister spent yesterday at Wade, N. C., on business.

The funeral of little Neal Smith McLeod, who died Thursday night, was conducted from the residence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alf H. McLeod, yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Rev. R. E. Steele, the family pastor, officiating.

The incident was in what others think—that about the biggest law we ever saw is the dog muzzle law in Lumberton. Some dogs are seen with their mouths tied up so close they can't drink water, others with the collar swinging to their neck, and some wear nothing. We saw one poor old dog on the street yesterday with both front feet tangled up in his head gear so that he couldn't travel. Cruelty to animals. Better to kill them than treat them like that.

Bowels are Basis of Child Health

The careful mother, who watches closely the physical peculiarities of her children, will soon discover that the most important thing in connection with a child's constant good health is to keep the bowels regularly open. Sluggish bowels will be followed by loss of appetite, restlessness during sleep, irritability and a dozen and one similar evidences of physical disorder.

At the first sign of such disorder give the child a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at night on retiring and repeat the dose the following night if necessary—more than that will scarcely be needed. You will find that the child will recover its accustomed good spirits at once and will eat and sleep normally. This remedy is a vast improvement over salts, cathartics, laxative waters and similar things, which are altogether too powerful for a child. The homes of Mrs. Valie Utley, Keyser, N. C., and Mrs. E. L. Hale, Dalton, Ga., are always supplied with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and with them, as with thousands of others, there is no substitute for this grand laxative. It is really more than a laxative, for it contains superior tonic properties which help to tone and strengthen the stomach, liver and bowels so that after a brief use of it all laxatives can be dispensed with and nature will do its own work.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

When a man has a real grouch he can make a long and loud argument in favor of it.

"The devil must be fought with fire," declares the Lynchburg News.
Yes, but hasn't he got more fire than the balance of us?

Political contests, Congressional investigations and court trials show that there are more big liars in this country than the law allows.

Roosevelt demanded 150 tickets to the Chicago convention but Harry New turned his request down. Teddy acts like he thinks the convention is a free show.

The best loser in North Carolina will be the easiest winner in November. His name is Craig—a true Democrat in defeat but ever ready to serve when he is called.

Of course, it is a little embarrassing to Senator Lorimer to resign to keep from having his seat declared vacant, but he might have a few fits and attribute his resignation to bad health.

At Binghamton, N. Y., a few days ago, Judge Hotchkiss sent a suffragette to the penitentiary for three months for beating her husband.
Thus he inflicted punishment for two reasons.

Our idea of an optimist is Senator LaFollette who believes he "holds the key to the situation" at Chicago two weeks from Tuesday. However, he needn't worry about taking a sack along to get the nomination.

The Rock Hill Herald says "thirty-one unsanitary dairies have been found in Charleston." Surely, Charleston doesn't have dairies inside the city? No-gow lot should be permitted in a city, much less a dairy.

The streets of Bagdad are to be lighted by electricity, but what benefit will it be to old man Haroun el Raschid. He has to be at home at windown to pray to Allah and when he finishes Mrs. Haroun el Raschid looks him in for the night.

At their recent convention the Indiana prohibitionists declared for the conservation of men and women and also of forests and natural resources.
If Col. Roosevelt can make a few votes by purloining that platform he will claim that it is one of his original ideas.

An Atlanta dispatch says: "Tom Watson proposes to go to Baltimore to snatch from W. J. Bryan the leadership of the National Democracy." About all Tom will do at Baltimore will be to snatch considerable unenviable publicity for Georgia and more notorious for Watson.

"I feel like a bull moose," declared Col. Roosevelt after he wound up his arduous campaign in New Jersey. He said, after New Jersey went for him:
"We stood 'em on their head." What manner of people are clattering at the heels of the candidate whose vocabulary is that of the sluggers and the slummers?

A dispatch from Atlanta says: "Tom Watson fought hard but lost out." Fighting and losing is Tom's long suit. He ought to know by this time that fighting doesn't pay. A politician ought to have something more in him than fight. Attacks on other men do not constitute a guarantee that there is any fine quality in the man who makes the attacks. In fact, the only thing in a certain class of men is a disposition to make it hot for somebody.

WILSON'S ACKNOWLEDGED STRENGTH

Since the New York World has editorially acknowledged the inevitable and has come to the deliberate conclusion that the Democracy's best chance to elect a President lies in the popular sentiment which is beginning to firmly crystallize around the Wilson boom. The World's strong editorial espousing Wilson's cause, based upon the reason that he has demonstrated great strength, has had a big effect in giving confidence to the supporters of the New Jersey Governor. The World furnished indisputable logic for his nomination and from all over the country that paper is receiving telegrams and letters from leading Democrats coinciding with its analysis of the situation.

Senator Lee S. Overman, of North Carolina, wired on Thursday: "The World gives the logic of the situation."
Senator B. R. Tillman, of South Carolina, telegraphed: "The World has written a strong editorial on the situation." These Senators, while acknowledging the logic and strength of the editorial, should have gone on and made their statements clear and unequivocal, as they could have done.

Representative Henry, of Texas, declares that Wilson can defeat any Republican candidate. Maine Congressmen declare that he can carry their State, and Congressman Palmer, of Pennsylvania, says he believes he can actually carry the Keystone State.

From all over the country Congressmen and Senators from different States agree with The World.

A Lincoln, Nebraska, dispatch, dated May 30th, says: "Commenting on the action of the New York World in advocating the nomination of Woodrow Wilson for President, W. J. Bryan this evening said: 'I do not care to depart from the position of neutrality which I have occupied from the beginning.'

"Any Progressive will be satisfactory to me and I regard both of the leading candidates, Clark and Wilson,
as Progressives."

Referring to the dispatch and letters concerning The World's editorial,
that paper summarizes, as follows:

"The World has received strong messages of approval of its editorial
advocacy of the nomination of Gov.
Woodrow Wilson for President by the Democratic National Convention. These come from United States Senators and Congressmen representing all parts of the country. The point is made by a number of these men experienced in public life that the independent voters will determine the election and they say Gov. Wilson would get the independent vote."

"Senator Gardner and Representatives McIllicuddy, both of whom have long been prominent in public life in Maine, say Gov. Wilson could carry that State. Representative Palmer, of Pennsylvania, says the Government could carry the Keystone State.
J. Bryan repeated that either Gov.
Wilson or Speaker Clark would be satisfactory to him. Thomas M. Osborne, the best known independent Democrat up-State, says The World
reflects the views of up-State Democrats. Not only from men in public life but from private citizens prominent in business circles. The World received approval of its announcement in favor of Gov. Wilson."

Col. Bryan, it is noticed, will not commit himself. He still favors both Wilson and Clark, but evidently is for neither. He ought to know by now which one is the most liable to be elected so he can concentrate his influences for the right man. We do not see how a man can support two candidates and expect either of them to win.

TEDDY'S REVOLUTIONARY TACTICS.

In another editorial we refer to the impression in well informed circles at Washington that Taft is beaten and that the President has grown desperate and will bolt the nominee if the Chicago convention nominates Roosevelt.

Roosevelt is largely responsible for the bitter condition into which the President's mind has gotten, for the Rough Rider has shown that he would not hesitate to adopt the most revolutionary tactics and unscrupulous methods to get the National convention out of the hands of Taft and his friends. One of Roosevelt's revolutionary tactics is first to get hold of the National Committee as the main step towards taking the convention out of the hands of Taft. Roosevelt proposes to do that by doing away with the old or present National Committee and installing the new committee before the convention organizes.
This would violate a precedent established from time immemorial, and in attempting to do that it shows that Roosevelt believes that his first victory would be to get the committee and then take the convention over in easy fashion. The New York World takes the view that Roosevelt's proposition is preposterous and high handed.
Says the world:

"The Republican National Committee is a creation of the party's quaternal National Convention and the term of its members is four years. A State's representatives on the committee is named by that State's delegation in the National Convention, his term begins with the close of that convention and he cannot be dislodged until another convention assembles and another delegation appears from that State. It will be the same when,
as now with some States, nominations for the committee are made at party primaries. These nominations can come before the convention only through the State's delegation in the convention, for only through its delegation does a State have any voice in the convention. And they can come only through the convention to the committee which is the servant of the convention and of the party thus represented. These facts need only to be stated to show the high-handed nature of the attempt to force into the Republican National Committee before the convention the primary nominee from Nebraska or any other primary State.

There is no more right to do this than for a nominee to an elective office to demand its possession before his election or before the legal term of the occupant has ended. The Nebraska nominee talks of appeal to law, but there is no law to help him beyond the rule of his party and its duly constituted National Committee. It is simply another manifestation of the Rough Rider spirit in Roosevelt politics."

TAFT MAY BE THE BOLTER.

Heretofore the prediction has been that Roosevelt would bolt the Chicago convention, but now comes Washington chat to the effect that it is Taft who may do the bolting. The result of the delegate getting contest is extremely close, with the strong probability that Roosevelt will control the National Convention. Evidently, Taft himself is not certain of his own strength, but it seems that he is determined to beat Roosevelt at all hazards.

It is said that the President is perfectly desperate and is planning bold strokes for the great nomination event at Chicago. It has been stated that he had decided to have William Barnes, Jr., the New York State boss, to be the leader of the Taft forces at the convention. Now it is said that it has been so arranged that the proxy of a National committeeman from the South will be given to Barnes so he can get on the National committee and do heavy work for Taft.

There are some who hint that this will be done to secure a solid South for Taft, but we do not see how that could be done without buying up Roosevelt's Southern delegates.

It is believed in Washington that Taft's real purpose now is to keep the fight up and make it so bitter that it will solidify his support and enable him to withdraw from the convention
if it goes against him. He is telegraphing to his workers and friends to stick to him to the last ditch and effect no compromise and give no advantage to any Roosevelt man. He is making a specially strong fight to hold his own in Ohio and he refuses stoutly to make any concessions there.

To show how men are ever ready to desert a losing candidate, it is stated that several Republican Senators have notified the President that they do not agree with him in his vigorous methods to get as much of the vote of his State as he can. They base their action on the contention that the President should be willing to compromise for the good of the party. We do not see how any compromise with third terms will do the Republican party any good.

The Ohio State convention will be held next Tuesday and it is believed that Roosevelt's men will elect all the delegates at large to the Chicago convention. Taft is claiming them and from some sources there was a suggestion to compromise by dividing the delegates equally. Taft refuses, and Roosevelt also says he would not hear to it. The next lively fight, therefore, will be in the Ohio State convention
next Tuesday, and the action there will largely determine the chances for Taft at Chicago.

At present it is not believed he has any more chance, and that he is getting his ducks in a row to bolt if Roosevelt is nominated at Chicago.

CURRENT COMMENT.

"The married man's rule is to say no till it is safe to say yes."—Wilmington Star. One North Carolina
editor learning fast.—Durham Sun.

If all capacity for reflection had not apparently been knocked out of the Republican party, the two weeks of quiet before the Chicago convention might be of some importance.—New York World.

Neither Mr. Godwin nor Mr. Sinclair seem to be doing much speechmaking, and the primary is not more than three weeks off. The people know both of them well enough to vote intelligently if neither makes a speech in the district.—Rowland Sun.

Mr. N. A. Sinclair spent last Saturday in Lumberton, where he met many of his friends. He is very popular in Robeson, and his friends say the county is safe for him. Mr. Sinclair is making a clean, honest canvass of the district, and if he wins over Mr. Godwin, it will be a people's victory won by honorable and straight methods.—Red Springs Citizen.

The victory in New Jersey of Woodrow Wilson and Theodore Roosevelt is a great triumph for the former, as Taft failed to carry his own State, and the winning of his State by the Democratic candidate is an indisputable sign of strength. As for the latter, Roosevelt's nomination would give the people a chance to choose between old-fashioned Americanism and the third term danger.—Houston Chronicle.

Abraham Lincoln was first nominated for President at the Republican National convention in Chicago fifty-two years ago. Some of Mr. Taft's friends have proposed that his only surviving son, Robert Todd Lincoln, shall be permanent chairman of the Republican National convention to be held in the same city next month. How many men could name offhand the permanent chairman of the National convention that nominated Lincoln in 1860, to the bitter disappointment of the acknowledged leader of the Republican party in the nation? William H. Seward, and his friends? It was George Ashmun, of Massachusetts, a big man in his day, but whose name is now seldom or never heard.

Sic transit gloria mundi!—Chester

MR. BRYAN MAKES REPLY.

Scott's Hill, N. C., May 24th.
Editor Star:—Mr. B. Mercer's communication in Thursday's Star headed "In Answer to Mr. Bryan," says among other things, "I confess I do not understand him." The question
I put to Mr. Mercer was in effect this:
"What superior right have you to Governor Kitchin in the way of criticism? You criticize Governor Kitchin at your pleasure and also denounce and condemn him for criticizing another person—Senator Simmons. If you have the right to criticize Governor Kitchin or any other person, why is it that Governor Kitchin or the other person hasn't got the same right from what power do you get the right to criticize individuals and condemn them at the same time for doing the same thing? This is about as plain as I can make this question. Now, Mr. Mercer says in his answer to my question: 'But I will simply say I disclaim any monopoly of criticism
other than that accorded to every citizen in this great, free country of ours, be he business man, working man or professional man.'"

Now I will not attempt to show that Mr. Mercer criticized Governor Kitchin in his (Mercer's) communication in Sunday's Star of May 26th, for he will not deny that he did. Let's see then if Mr. Mercer in that communication condemned Governor Kitchin for criticizing Senator Simmons. Among many words in the communication referred to this appears: "American people are condemning Jemmy and his kind, just as the people of North Carolina will condemn Governor Kitchin and relate to the shades of private life in November next this professional office hunter and traducer of good men who may happen to stand in the way of his personal ambitions." Not only is the word condemn used here, but Governor Kitchin is denounced as a traducer of good men because he criticizes Senator Simmons, an ideal of Mr. Mercer.
If Governor Kitchin is a traducer for attacking the public record of Senator Simmons, what position does Mr. Mercer occupy for attacking the public record of Governor Kitchin?

Mr. Mercer's communication was brought forth solely for the purpose of striking Governor Kitchin because Governor Kitchin criticized Simmons, Mercer's idol. Mr. Aycock and Judge
Clark are mentioned in the Mercer article, but not denounced, as neither assailed the record of Mr. Simmons. So a careful analysis of the Mercer distributed reveals the fact that it only assailed Governor Kitchin, because the Governor assailed another man who had been mentioned in the Mercer article. If Mr. Kitchin had no right to assail
Mr. Simmons, where did Mr. Mercer get his right to assail Governor Kitchin?

Further on in the Mercer invective this appears: "But fighting within the various and in a large measure, the household is distinctively a Kitchin
characteristic, a characteristic you will always find inseparable from the man who is seeking his own personal aggrandizement and individual advancement at the cost of his party."
Now it is known for a fact that Mr.
Mercer is a Kitchin man. Will Mr. Mercer kindly inform the public what sort of individual advancement he seeks by fighting within party lines at the cost of his party? Fighting within the party lines and in the Democratic household is distinctively a Kitchin characteristic. Mr. Mercer, if Mr. Kitchin could at one time claim this exclusive distinction his right to do so now, does not exist. Mr. Mercer has invaded this right and won by strenuous effort a part of the honor
at least that this distinction confers.
Does Mr. Mercer consider it a distinction as evidenced by his article here the genuine trademark, or is it an infringement? R. K. BRYAN.

Payetteville, N. C., May 29, 1912.
Numerous letters received here indicate that there will be no opposition to the election of Major E. J. Hale as delegate at large to the Baltimore convention.

That was a fine tribute to him adopted by acclamation, at the Cumberland County Convention on Saturday. It was presented by Col. C. W. Broad-foot, dean of the Payetteville Bar, and reported in the proceedings as follows:

Col. C. W. Broadfoot offered the following resolution: "In this town, county and State, the name of E. J.
Hale has ever stood in the forefront, battling in peace and war for the good and the right. The family has been noted for great ability, untiring industry, unbounded patriotism, loyalty to friends, and plain old-fashioned honesty. It looks just now like the common people of our country were about to take charge of their own affairs. Opportunity is knocking at our door. In this crisis the grand old conservative State of North Carolina ought to have—must have and shall have—the services of her best. We offer for delegate at large to the Baltimore convention, the Hon. E. J.
Hale."

The rule of taking a precinct vote
by ballot was suspended, and Col.
Broadfoot's resolution was adopted by acclamation.

HUNT-LAMOND NUPTIALS.

Pretty Home Wedding Yesterday at Residence of Bride's Sister.

In the presence of a large number of relatives and friends at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. John Mathers, No. 16 North Eighth street, at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Miss Isabella White Lamond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Lamond, of Dundee, Scotland, and Mr. Robert Hunt, son of Mr. Geo. Hunt, of Manchester, England, were happily united in marriage, the ceremony being impressive, performed by Rev. Dr. John M. Wells, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. The home was very prettily decorated for the happy event. Mr. R. J. Holt was best man and the bride was attended by Miss Lydia Lamond, her sister, and Miss Edith Mathers, both of Dundee, Scotland. The Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin was skilfully played by Miss Dorothea Quells as the bridal party entered the parlor, where the ceremony was performed.

Following the ceremony and the felicitations of all present, Mrs. Mathers served a dainty luncheon in honor of the bridal party.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunt will leave tonight for a bridal tour of points of interest in the North and will return to Wilmington in about two weeks. Mr. Hunt has been in Wilmington about two years, being a druggist here, and has many friends in this city. His bride has made Wilmington her home for a year and is greatly beloved by all within her circle of acquaintance.

KILLED BY FALLING TIMBER

Mr. E. T. Taylor, Well Known Carpenter, Met Death When Building Collapsed Yesterday. Neck Was Broken.

Mr. E. T. Taylor, aged 54 years, a well known carpenter of the city, was almost instantly killed yesterday morning about 10 o'clock at Hopkins & Davis' slaughter house on Sans Souci farm when the structure on which he was working collapsed. His neck was broken and other bones were fractured. Mr. Taylor lived only about 20 minutes. His young son, who was nearby, but not in sight of the building at the time of the accident, was the first to reach his father.

Messrs. Hopkins & Davis had employed Mr. Taylor to tear down a number of outbuildings on a part of the Sans Souci farm, which they recently purchased as a site for a new slaughter house. Mr. Taylor and his son were there yesterday and while the father was engaged in his work the boy, about 15 years of age, had been sent on a short errand.

In some manner part of the building upon which Mr. Taylor was working collapsed and he was caught under the timbers. His son and a negro butcher at the slaughter house were soon at his side and word was sent to Messrs. Hopkins & Davis and to the James Walker Memorial Hospital. The ambulance was sent in charge of Dr. Seligman and Mr. Davis also went out. In the meantime Mr. Taylor had been removed to the shade of a tree nearby.

Dr. Seligman made an examination and stated that the injured man could not live more than a few minutes. It was seen that it would be useless to attempt to remove him to the hospital. Everything possible was done to make his last moments easy and the end soon came.

Dr. C. D. Bell, the coroner, was notified and he made an examination, finding that the neck had been broken and also a bone in the right shoulder fractured. He deemed an inquest unnecessary and the body was turned over to the undertaking establishment of Mr. W. E. Yopp to be prepared for burial. Later it was removed to the family residence, No. 10 West Queen street.

Surviving Mr. Taylor are his widow and ten children, all of this city. The children are as follows: Messrs. W. H. L. James, Thomas, Shepard, Frank and E. T. Taylor, Jr., and Misses Myrtle, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth, and Mrs. Lillian Woodcock, all of whom will have the tender and sincere sympathy of many friends in their sorrow. Mrs. J. W. Hill, mother-in-law of the deceased, will arrive today, to be with her bereaved daughter and grandchildren.

The funeral will be held from the residence, No. 10 West Queen street, this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Services will be conducted by Elder J. T. Mattox, assisted by Rev. G. T. Adams, pastor of Fifth Street Methodist Church. Interment will be in Bellevue cemetery.

DELEGATES TO CONVENTION

Those Who Are to Represent New Hanover in Raleigh Next Thursday—Each Delegate Entitled To One-third Vote.

New Hanover county's delegates to the State convention, which meets in Raleigh Thursday of this week, were named yesterday by Marsden Bellamy, Esq., chairman of the New Hanover County Democratic convention, in accordance with a resolution adopted at the convention last Saturday giving him that power. The county is entitled to but 44 votes in the State convention, but 42 delegates are named, so each will have a third of a vote. The State convention will select four delegates at large to the National convention, and nominate candidates for the various State offices.

In addition the delegates at large each Congressional district is entitled to two delegates to the National convention, giving a total of 24 votes in National body. As there is to be no Congressional Convention in this district this year, a primary has been determined upon as the means of selecting the nominee for Congress, a meeting of the delegates from the district will probably be held in Raleigh just prior to the State convention to name the district's two delegates to the National convention. This county is entitled to 42 delegates in the Congressional convention and, as stated, 14 in the State convention. It was with the idea of using the same delegates for both conventions that Mr. Bellamy named 42 instead of 14 delegates.

Chairman Bellamy has reserved the right to name alternates to the convention and if any delegate selected finds that he cannot attend he is requested to notify the chairman in time for someone to be named in his place. Some one has estimated, from the personal views of the delegates named, that Wilson has 16 delegates or a fraction over 35 per cent of the vote from this county, with the remainder divided between Underwood, Harmon and Clark with the former in the lead. The delegates as announced are:

H. C. McQueen, Walker Taylor, J. D. Carr, J. D. Bellamy, W. P. Gafford, J. J. Furlong, E. A. Metts, John S. McEachern, J. W. Yates, G. J. Boney, Marsden Bellamy, C. C. Loughlin, W. A. McGirt, J. G. McCormick, J. H. Cowan, Wm. E. Springer, Hugh MacRae, R. H. Reville, B. F. King, Jr., D. H. Hayes, Jr., George Roundtree, Geo. L. Peschau, W. P. Mangum, Turner, H. G. Smallbones, Herbert McClammy, Dr. W. C. Galloway, George Harris, J. W. Williamson, W. F. Jones, A. G. Ricard, Robert Ruark, S. A. Matthews, Gerritt Walker, L. D. Latta, J. Allen Taylor, Henry E. Bonita, S. P. Cowan, W. E. Mann, C. D. Weeks, F. D. Satchell, Woodus Kelum, Thos. W. Davis.

BICYCLE THIEF ARRESTED

Negro Had Been Doing a Wholesale Business in Stolen Wheels.

Eli Faulk, colored, believed to be one of a gang of bicycle thieves which have been operating in this city, was arrested yesterday morning at Hilton bridge on a warrant issued by Justice Harris charging him with the larceny of a bicycle. He was riding a bicycle at the time which has been identified as the one stolen from a young man named Jones. The arrest was made by Messrs. Gaston Phares and August Kranke, of the Queen City Cycle Company, who had been deputized by Justice Harris. The negro was lodged in jail and will probably be given hearing before Justice Harris Monday or Tuesday.

The Queen City Cycle Company has had a number of bicycles stolen. Recently and others have reported their wheels missing. Friday Mr. Pickard, of the Queen City Cycle Company, learned that a number of the missing wheels were at Navassa, and with several others he went there and recovered five bicycles. Four of them belonged to his company and one to Mr. William Hodges. They had been sold to innocent parties at Navassa by a negro. The party learned that he had an engagement with a man at Navassa yesterday to sell a wheel, and they heard that a young man named Jones had had his bicycle stolen. From what they had learned they suspected Faulk and applied to Justice Harris for papers. As all of the deputy sheriffs were busy at the Court House, Mr. Harris deputized Messrs. Phares and Kranke, and the young men overtook the negro at Hilton bridge. They placed him under arrest and brought him back to the city. He was committed to jail by Justice Harris.

Mr. Pickard stated yesterday that Faulk admitted stealing and selling the wheels that have been recovered. He added that a number of others are still missing and that he had reasons to suspect that Faulk was aided by one or more confederates.

PORT PARAGRAPHS

Torpedo Boat Foote Leaves—Steamer Celia is Being Lightered.

The torpedo boat Foote, which has been in port since Thursday took on coal yesterday morning and left shortly after noon for Southport, whence she proceeded last night to the Charleston Navy Yard to undergo a thorough overhauling.

The British tramp steamer Celia, which ran aground near the quarantine station yesterday morning is still stuck in the mud and the Diamond Steamboat & Wrecking Co., is busy lightering its cargo of nitrate of soda. It was thought at first that the steamer would navigate the channel at high water yesterday morning, but was unable to do so and several hundred tons of her cargo will have to be lightered before she can get to the Atlantic Coast Line terminals to discharge.

Registrars and Pollholders for Congressional Contest Announced Yesterday—Primary is on June 18th.

Although overshadowed and given second place by the Presidential contest, considerable interest is developing in the county and throughout the district in the primary to be held June 18th to name the Democratic nominee for Congress from the Sixth district. Now that the State convention will soon be out of the way and the date of the primary is rapidly approaching interest will become greater and the friends of the two candidates will work all the harder during the remaining days of the campaign.

Congressman H. L. Godwin, of Dunn, the incumbent, and Solicitor N. A. Sinclair, of Fayetteville, both have a strong following and friends of each are claiming a victory.

The registrars and pollholders for the primary in New Hanover county were announced yesterday by Mr. George Harris, chairman of the Democratic County Executive Committee, which, in session some time ago, delegated to him that power. The list is given below, the first named being the registrar and the two last named being the pollholders:

VERDICT FAVORS PLAINTIFF

Eddie M. Bryan Awarded Damages in Sum of $6,000 Against Hilton Lumber Co.—Trial of the Gregg Case Begun.

Awarding damages to the plaintiff in the sum of $6,000, the Superior Court jury in the case of Eddie M. Bryan vs. the Hilton Lumber Company, an action for $25,000 damages for alleged personal injuries, brought in a verdict yesterday morning, after having been out all night. This is the second trial of the case, the plaintiff having been given $7,600 at the first trial. The defendant company will likely take an appeal from the verdict rendered yesterday morning.

The plaintiff was suing for the loss of his left arm, which was amputated near the shoulder, as the result of an accident in the planing mill of the defendant company, where he was employed. The plaintiff is represented by John D. Bellamy & Son and Geo. Harris, Esqs., while appearing for the defendant company were Davis & Davis and ex-Judge E. K. Bryan. In the case of F. W. Stock vs. the Murchison National Bank a judgment was signed for dismissal, while there was a judgment also in the case of W. M. Cumming vs. Geo. Graham and others, involving a small piece of land, a compromise having been effected. Mrs. Ida Shepard was granted a divorce from her husband, Chas. T. Shepard.

Court is now engaged with the case of Mrs. Susan M. Gregg, administratrix, vs. the City of Wilmington and Jas. P. Woolvin. It took practically all of yesterday to select 11 jurors. The 12th man is yet to be chosen. The plaintiff is suing for $20,000 alleged damages for the death of her husband, who was killed by a pile of building material falling upon him in the street in front of the Woolvin building, on Princess street, a few years ago. It was during the construction of the Woolvin building that the accident occurred. The case was tried over a year ago, resulting in a verdict for the plaintiff, damages being awarded in the sum of $7,000. The case was appealed by the defendants and a new trial was granted. It is likely that the trial of the case will consume practically all of this week. Appearing for the plaintiff are Rountree & Carr and John D. Bellamy & Son, while City Attorney Herbert McClammy, ex-Judge E. K. Bryan and A. G. Ricard, Esqs., appear for the defendants, the latter representing Mr. Woolvin.

Yesterday morning Mr. C. B. Ruffin, who has been a member of the High School faculty, was introduced to the court by W. P. Stacy, Esq., and was sworn in as a practicing attorney. It is said that Mr. Ruffin has not yet decided where he will practice.

Three Charged With Assault. Chas. Woebse, Robert Orr and Geo. Woebse, white, were arrested yesterday afternoon by Patrolman H. C. Bullard on charges of assaulting J. G. Sledge, white. Warrants charging assault with a deadly weapon were also served upon the two former. Justice told the police that he took a drink of whiskey in front of the Woebse's place of business and he declared that they got angry and assaulted him. He declares that one of them hit him over the head with a hard substance of some kind and that they also threw rocks at him. The cases will also be tried in the Recorder's court Tuesday morning.

EXPERT CHEMISTS COMING

Government Recognizes Merits of Mr. Thos. W. Pritchard's Process of Wood Distillation—Work Goes on Quietly.

Recognizing the merits of what is known as the Pritchard Process of Wood Distillation, discovered or invented by Mr. Thos. W. Pritchard, a well known chemist of Wilmington, the acting chief of the Bureau of Chemistry of the United States Department of Agriculture, following considerable correspondence by mail, yesterday telegraphed Mr. Pritchard that he would send a number of chemists here the latter part of August to spend some time for the purpose of making experiments according to the new process.

The Bureau of Chemistry has been greatly interested for some time in the matter of wood distillation and there has been a feeling among all the leading chemists that the known processes prior to the Pritchard invention, did not give the yield they should. It is estimated that the various preparations that may be made according to the new process from one cord of wood will bring in a revenue of approximately $40, whereas according to the processes now in use the maximum is $12. The present concern is the National Wood Distilling Company and the idea is to have plants in various parts of the country. The first plant will probably be erected in Wilmington, license having already been issued to the National Wood Products Company, offered by the following: President, H. M. Chase; vice president and general manager, Thos. W. Pritchard; secretary and treasurer, P. P. Causey. They are now getting things in readiness and hope to have their plant in operation in a short time.

It was a little over a year ago that a company was organized in this city by some of the leading business men and the Pritchard Process for the Distillation of Wood was purchased from the inventor, Mr. Thos. W. Pritchard. A series of experiments were conducted for many months with a small model plant and then a commercial demonstration plant was erected. The larger plant checked with the model to the letter, it is said, and soon it was evident that the process offered most wonderful prospects. The work has been quietly carried on without any publicity until the experts in charge were fully satisfied of the success of the proposition.

In the meantime scientists both at home and abroad got wind of the work and inquiries began to come in from all quarters. Certain wealthy Canadian interests took up the matter and after some correspondence sent an expert here who made a most exhaustive study of the process and advised his clients to take it up. This has resulted, it is said, in a most satisfactory deal which will be settled soon. It is said that some of the most prominent chemists in America have been here and made a thorough investigation of the process in existence for the manufacture of the distillates from the pine wood. The process has been examined most thoroughly by Dr. Chas. B. Kerville, of the College of the City of New York; Prof. M. C. Whitaker, of the Columbia University, of New York, as well as by Dr. John Teeple, who is one of America's leading experts on wood distillation and he endorsed what had been said of the process by the other two experts mentioned.

It is claimed that the turpentine made by this process is not only of the very highest grade, but the production from a given quantity of wood is far greater than by any other process. Besides, the by-products are of especially good quality and the production is unlimited. Preparations are now being made for the erection of a plant in or near Wilmington and it will probably be in operation some time this year.

THE RECORDER'S COURT.

Negro Charged With Burglary Held Without Bond for Higher Court.

Ed Galloway, colored, was given hearing in the Recorder's court yesterday morning on a charge of burglary and probable cause being found he was sent over to Superior Court. He was held without bond for trial. It was alleged that Galloway entered the home of Emma Bellamy, colored, on the night of May 19th and stole a quantity of flour and other articles of food.

The Bellamy woman was the chief witness against Galloway. She testified that she was awakened late in the night by a noise from her kitchen and that she went to investigate. She declared that she saw the defendant leaving the room by way of the window with a basket of provisions on his arm. She recognized him and positively identified him as the man who entered her house. Ben Drayton also gave damaging testimony against the defendant, stating that he saw Galloway coming out of the window with a basket under his arm.

A number of other witnesses were examined, though their testimony was not so strong as that of the woman and Drayton. The case seemed to be a clear one and the court held the negro without bond. Burglary is a capital offense and Galloway may pay the death penalty for his alleged crime.

Only one other case was tried yesterday. Lloyd Turner being taxed the costs for disorderly conduct.

"SWAT-THE-FLY" CAMPAIGN

Ended Yesterday Afternoon, But War On Pest Will Be Continued

Although the "swat-the-fly" campaign conducted jointly by North Carolina Sorosis and the city health department closed yesterday afternoon, the war on the pest will not be discontinued by any means, for the housewives and others who now have a better understanding of the danger of the fly will not stop their battle against the disease-carrying insect. The campaign during the month of May, besides from the number of flies exterminated, is bound to bring results in the education of the people to the importance of doing away with the breeding places of the pest as well as to kill those which have come into life. The winners of the prizes offered by Sorosis will be announced early in the week.

Special mention should be made of the work of the children in one of the divisions of the fourth grade of the Union school in killing flies during month, although they did not enter the Sorosis contest for prizes. A strict account of the flies destroyed by the pupils was kept and it was announced that just 261,000 flies were exterminated during this period. It is estimated that this is about 12 quarts. Members of Sorosis speak in the highest praise of the work of the children in this grade.

COTTON MARKET VERY QUIET

Fluctuations Were Within A Range of Five Points, With Close Steady At A Net Decline of Two To Three Points

New York, June 1.—The cotton market was very quiet today and fluctuations were within a range of five points, with the close steady at a net decline of two to three points. The market opened steady at a decline of two to four points under scattering liquidation and sold about 4 to 5 points net lower right after the call on a favorable view of the weather in the South and of the prospects for over Sunday. Covering for over the week-end and the approaching government report checked the decline and caused a rally to practically the closing figures of last night during the middle of the morning, but prices eased off again under renewed liquidation and the close was within a point or two of the lowest.

Owing to the continued liquidation there were no cables from Liverpool and while that market will be open on Monday, New Orleans will be closed. The government report is expected at noon Tuesday. So far three private condition figures have been published ranging from 78.5 to 79.3 percent, comparing with the official condition of 87.8 last year.

Receipts at all the ports today 3,000 bales, against 3,482 last week and 3,434 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 560, against 492 last year; at Houston 243, against 54 last year, and at Galveston, 1,859, against 1,045 last year.

Spot closed quiet and 10 points lower; middling uplands, 11.40; do. gulf, 11.65; sales, 204 bales.

Futures closed steady.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, June 1.—A selling stampede in wheat today resulted from general rains throughout Kansas and Nebraska, where drought and heat had made the crop situation critical. Prices broke as much as 2% and closed unsettled, 1% under last night.

Corn suffered a net back of 3 cents, and finished with a net loss of 3/4 to 2%. The outcome for oats was a decline of 3/4 to 1 1/2%, and for provisions a slanting range from yesterday's final level to 5c below.

STOCKS OPENED IRREGULAR

Hesitation in the First Hour Was Followed by A Degree of Firmness

—The Industrials Made Some Gains

New York, June 1.—Irregularity and hesitation in the first hour followed by a degree of firmness towards the close were the salient features of today's brief session on the stock exchange. Responding to London, where most of our stocks were above the preceding day, probably on New York buying, the local market opened with little trace of yesterday's weakness. The more prominent issues, including Reading, Lehigh Valley, Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific, United States Steel and some other important industrials after wavering occasionally closed with marked net gains. This doubtless resulted in part from good support and a modicum of short covering.

Aside from another advance in finished steel products there was little in the day's news to stimulate trading for either account. The Pennsylvania submitter its statement of earnings for April and like many of the other great transportation systems, fell much behind the previous year.

It is now accepted as a fact that all the large producers, including the Steel Corporation, were working close to full capacity during the past month. The commercial agencies point to the slight reduction in bank clearings compared with a year ago as proof that general trade is again inclined to halt.

Wall Street has thus far given scant attention to the "money trust" investigation, but this matter may receive more interest from the financial community next week, when the head of one of the largest National banks of this city is to appear as a witness. Actual loans showed an infinitesimal contraction as against an average loan decrease of almost $4,000,000. The bond market was irregular, with improvement in some of yesterday's weak issues. Total sales, par value $902,000. U. S. government bonds were unchanged on call. Total sales today 330,800 shares.

GOVERNOR SPOKE TO THE GRADUATES

ing people, and we want a government for the people; but it is impossible to have this unless it is a government by the people. The people must make the government themselves and when they undertake this they are undertaking a great responsibility if they are to make the history of the coming centuries different from those of the blood-spattered past. We must have a high class of citizenship to accomplish this purpose and an intelligent citizenship. The people must be so intelligent that the cannot be misled or deceived, must be so honest and conscientious that they cannot be bought and so courageous that they cannot be browbeaten or intimidated by those who would use the government for their own selfish ends. This is the function of the public schools and this is the work that they are accomplishing. What the sunlight is to the eye, education is to the mind. Though the object of education is happiness, the speaker pointed out that a man may live under an honest and just government, may acquire fortunes and fame and still be unhappy. This is because happiness comes not from without but from within, and depends upon the attitude of man to his fellowman. A man may be surrounded by his friends, for his enemies will not follow his example nor heed his voice.

Speaking particularly to the members of the graduating class, Governor Kitchin declared that the real difference between a good man and a bad man lies in moral character, the power to resist temptation. When a person overcomes one temptation he is thereby made the stronger to overcome the next one, and conversely when he succumbs to a temptation he is rendered just so much more likely to submit to the next one. The Governor urged the members to cultivate their honor and to build up their characters while they are at an age that this can best be done.

He referred to the old advice of "Love Your Work," and declared that this had fooled him for many years, but at last he had learned the truth about it. Loving your work is secondary to loving your life, loving to do the thing that our judgment and conscience tell us is right. Judgment and conscience keep us doing what we ought to do, rather than what we love to do, and the men and women who succeed in life are those who do not give way to the things they love to do. Love your work if you can, but take for your guide your judgment and conscience and do your duty as you see it.

In closing Governor Kitchin explained that he had been under a rather heavy strain for the past few days and that he was feeling tired and worn out, but that he appreciated the attention that the audience had given him and that if he had been the means of aiding some one to make new resolutions, or giving a single person a clearer view of life or strengthening someone's love for his fellowmen he felt that his trip would be well rewarded. He closed by reciting King's speech and did poem, "If," of which it has been said that if it were the only thing given to the world by the author it would be sufficient to forever insure his name a place in the hall of fame.

In the absence of Mr. Allan Taylor, chairman of the Joint School Committee, who could not be present on account of recent bereavement in the family, the presentation of the diplomas was made by Mr. John J. Blair, superintendent of city schools. Mr.

Blair made a very pretty talk, complimenting the members of the class on having achieved the goal for which they had toiled so long, and he called attention to the fact that it was a significant moment in their lives. The diplomas, he said, had been won by years of hard labor and constant application to duty. He also remarked on the fact that this was the largest graduating class in the history of Wilmington, the next highest number being 22. He spoke a few words to the junior class, expressing the hope that they would wear worthily the honors which now rest upon them as the senior class of the high school. He then called the class roll and each member came forward and received his or her diploma. Each award was hailed with applause by the audience.

The following are those who received their diplomas last night: Elizabeth Hedrick Beery, Lucy Behrens, Eleanor Bessellie, Augusta Bowden Boykin, Margaret London, Cronin, Laura Clifton, Emma Hazel Fleet, Maude Frink, Annie Westbrook Fitch, Vera Mayo Furlong, Florence Olivia Hawkins, Gladys Murphy Herring, Annie Irene Jones, Jennie Amell Johnston, Lula Elizabeth Johnston, Marion Frances Johnston, Edna LaRue, Mary Thomas Lorenzo, Ruth Bradford Lynch, Annie Leah Mercer, Eva Cleone Pigford, Ollie Powell Rembert, Alice Jackson Sawyer, Mary Elizabeth Shepard, Annie Herring Smith, Marguerite Solomon, Katherine Bishop, Amy Morris Bradley Scholarship Medal, given for the highest scholarship of the class, to Miss Alice Jackson Sawyer. J. O. Carr, Esq., chairman of the county board of education, made the presentation of the German American National Association medal for the best student in the Junior Class, to Miss Jeannette Buck. A special second prize, a beautiful book, "My Commencement," was given to Miss Emily Hammond, who had a very high standard, but who was kept from the competition for the first prize on account of being quarantined during the term.

Mr. Carr also presented the University of North Carolina scholarship to Mr. Julian Allison Moore, who led the boys of the senior class in scholarship. In making the presentation Mr. Carr told a very pretty little story that was connected with the winner of the prize. He told of a very close boyhood friend and companion who moved to Georgia about the time he entered the University. His friend married, entered business and later died. His wife and child were left alone to live in Wilmington. Mr. Carr said that he did not know this boy was in the High School until a few days ago when he was told that he had won the University scholarship which he had been selected to present.

Grand Honor Roll. In connection with the finals at the High School much interest attached to the announcement of the Grand Honor Roll which showed that Miss Jeannette Buck of Junior Class No. 1, led the school with an average of 93.3 while Miss Claire Peterson, of Freshman No. 1, was a close second with 92.1. First and second honor in the several classes were awarded in the order given as follows: Senior I—Miss Alice Sawyer; second honor, Miss Katherine Von Glahn, Irene Jones and Mary Lorenz; Junior I—Miss Jeannette Buck, Miss Lena May Herring; second honor, Miss Lillian Davis, Katie Prigden and Arthur Humphrey.

Wright SELLS LOTS

I can say this much—"That I never made a bad investment or failed to make money in real estate, when I followed Wright's advice." Is what was told us yesterday by a business man of our city when he handed him a check that represented $1,000 profit. It isn't right, we will tell you so. That's why our customers stick with us, and our business continues to grow.

There's a nice new cottage on Castle street, near 13th, neat, well-built and attractive. Owner wants to move in country. The terms are easy and the price fair. Would like to show you this.

Seventh street is a popular, busy street. We have a two-story dwelling, No. 410 South Seventh street, for sale; easy terms. Values are going up here.

Have you noticed the brand new pretty cottage home on Southwest corner Third and Church? It is on our list. Nice home, too. Let us tell you about it.

There is no better location, and few better cottage homes than No. 810 Dock street. Good size lot. It isn't often that a place as desirable as this can be bought at a reasonable price.

The northwest corner of Third and Market is offered to investors. This tract contains two houses. There's a chance here. See us.

The 7 and 8th Avenue No. 814 Orange street is much larger than it first appears. This up-to-date and especially well-built home is offered you. Don't delay.

Next door to the northwest corner of Seventh and Princess on Seventh street, is a good, modern home. We want to tell you about it—if you want a home. New street here, in many ways desirable.

Very shortly those beautiful lots on 15th street, on which we have been working since last November, will be offered you. Try the new road and look at the property.

THE RURAL FREE DELIVERY

Address of State Senator Rivers D. Johnson to Eastern North Carolina Rural Letter Carriers, Wallace, May 30th

Addressing the Eastern North Carolina Rural Letter Carriers' Association at Wallace, N. C., on Thursday of the past week, State Senator Rivers D. Johnson spoke as follows:

"My friends, you belong to that great department of our government, the Postoffice Department, that can be likened unto a great corporation. In the proper performance of all the duties pertaining to this department it reaches into every nook and corner of the country. It comes nearer and closer to the people than any other department of the government. Its officials and employees come in contact with every business, with every society, with every organization, and with every home. Its financial transactions run into the hundreds of millions of dollars. Business, commerce, religion, education—all depend upon it to carry out their various functions. It is like the arteries of the human system. It reaches everywhere and assists every citizen, be he great or small, in carrying out his duties and fulfilling his obligations. We are all daily dependent upon it for the success of our business enterprises, for the education of our children, and for the happiness and comfort of our people. It does not cease its work and its operation when nightfall empties the shops, closes up business offices, empties our schools, and drives the busy life from our crowded streets; but while we are all slumbering in peace, recruiting and renewing our strength for a new day, its employees and faithful servants are toiling during the weary hours in the performance of their various duties, separating on busy pounding railway trains or in countless city pottoches the millions of missives, messages, and documents that shall in the coming morn be promptly placed in the waiting hands of millions of citizens.

This great department of our government with its system of uniform rates tends to equalize both commercial and social conditions, at once elevating the most unfortunately located backwoodman to the condition of the most fortunate townsman, and, on the other hand, elevating the child of the slum to the condition of his most happy country brother, and providing equal opportunity to all.

For this reason, in order to enlarge the service to the many, your Congress in 1897 adopted the Rural Free Delivery System, and appropriated $40,000 for this service. To content the man dwelling more remote from town, with his lonely lot, by giving him regular and frequent means of intercommunication; to assure the emigrant who plants his new home on the skirts of the distant wilderness that he is not forever severed from the kindred and society that still shares his interest and love; to prevent those whom the swelling tide of population is constantly pressing to the verge of the wilderness from sinking into the hunter or savage state; to render the citizen, however far from the seat of government, worthy by proper knowledge and intelligence of his important privileges as a sovereign constituent of the government; to diffuse throughout all parts of the land enlightenment, social improvement, and national affluence, elevating our people in the scale of civilization and binding them together in patriotic affection—this, my friends, is the character of service you are rendering your country.

Therefore, it is a great pleasure to me, to be with you, and to speak to those of you, who play such a conspicuous part in the workings of our great government. To those men who have to perform their service in all sorts of weather, and are often compelled to travel over roads almost impassable, to those that face the snow and sleet and blinding winds from the chilling blasts of winter, and when the summer sun makes travel almost unendurable, they still are required to perform their duty, and throughout all the year they must endure these changes of weather and perform their duties.

When I received your invitation to speak to you today, these were some of the salient facts which came to my mind, and I wondered if this included all of your duties, but I wasn't to be left in this state of bewilderment, for I knew a source of information, where the experience of a rural carrier, could be given "verbatim ad liberum"—and I hastened to your honored vice president Mr. Pearsall, and here I quote his letter:

"The rural carrier is a missionary—not especially to the heathens, sometimes tho' past experience would justify this belief, but rather disseminating knowledge and light, to that great force in our present life, that is to those who reside in our rural sections, conveying the glad tidings of the current news of the day, the letter also from that member of the family who has gone from home, and whose letters are always glad messengers to the folks back home; then he performs a labor of love to the widows and fatherless, and more especially to the good-looking widows, and I would not forget the country school marm, who always are uppermost in the minds of the carriers, who cheer for the weary carrier, this endears the country 'school marm' in the heart of that weary Knight of the Road, and makes him drive the faster towards the little school house door." Me thinks I see the carrier starting out on his trip, and the first person he meets is Bill Jones going on the excursion, who wants to know if it is going to rain—No, reckon not (thus he is the weather forecast), then Hiram Birdseed is planting his garden, say, Mr. carrier, when is the moon full—tonight (thus you see he is the almanac), he moves on and lo behold, there in the big road is Johnny Brown fighting with Parson Smith's little boy, then is when our hero, plays the role of the peacemaker—the disturbance quelled, he moves along to Deacon Shelton's country home, here we find strife and dissension, Elder Johnson's hogs have ruined his corn, and he wants damage, here the Knight of the Road performs the mission of the lawyer, he prepares the claim, fixes the compromise, and we poor lawyers are all sore on our hero—his mission ended, he travels on to the little cottage, where the poor widow lives and ekes out a miserable existence, her little boy has just hurt his leg, something must be done, his along way back to town, then the Knight of the Road, with all the pomp of the learned surgeon, says, "I'll be the doctor," and the job is his, the little fellow is soon comforted, and our gallant Knight of the Road moves on down the road, in time to reach the big home by the side of the road in time for dinner. Here he relates the news of the town, who he saw on the train this morning, how Mrs. Blank set a black hen on a dawning gourd, and hatched out a duck; how the business of the country is tied up on account of poor crops; and how the women suffragists have ruined the Mother Country. The meal over, the housewife complimented on the elegant pies, the young maiden blushing from the news from her city beau, the old man encouraged by a falsification as to his good crop, which is the best he has seen on the route, he moves along on his journey leaving a circular here, and gathering up a postal card yonder; until he reaches

his final destination. But back yonder he has carried to the blushing maiden the news from her bashful lover, thus performing a messenger of the cupid type, ere long these messages follow fast, and follow faster, then, the blushing maiden anxiously awaits the coming of that big book, that is cherished by some next to the Holy Bible, "Sears and Roebuck's catalogue, the trousseau is to be selected, and our Knight of the Road is called in to do the job, he selects the trousseau from crown to foot, picks out the latest styles, or rather what the girls are wearing in the village; then the invitations are written, and in a few days our gallant courier brings the "license," informs Parson Smith that his presence is requested, tells all the folks along his route the day set, and sits at the head of the table at the "infair" which is a part of his reward. Reads all the post-cards from the honey-mooners on their honey-moon, and gives them a cordial greeting when they return. Ere long he performs another mission—we see him driving into town as if going to a fire, he halts at the doctor's office—the next day, he announces to his patrons the arrival of a little stranger over yonder—then the Knight of the Road is called in to name it—if it's a girl—Sarah Jane or Mary Ann, or some other sweet girl name; if a boy, "Furny Simmons, Billy Kitchin or Billy Bryan," and the aforesaid Knight proceeds at once to purchase a full outfit for the little stranger, consisting of a spotted red calico frock, and trimmings galore—thus the life goes on, in byways and highways of real life—the faithful carrier hears the innocent prattle of the new born, sees the country being populated and has no fear of race suicide ever being prevalent in this beautiful land of ours.

Nor does your record for good accomplish end here, in your daily ministrations to the country people, you add to their spiritual as well as their temporal life, by your aid in painting the little school house, in securing the teacher, in getting up the entertainment and contributing to the pastor's salary, you have set at naught the forces of ignorance, and have aided the Spiritual Messenger, to help care for his little flock. Doubtless your only reward is self-consciousness, that is that you are performing your duty well. If this be true, you have acted well your part in this drama of life and you should rejoice that you have added comfort and cheer, where once there was loneliness and despair.

It might be interesting to you to note the development of the Rural Free Delivery System since its inauguration, the rapid strides it has made, and if you will pardon a few statistics, I'll give you the facts concerning the growth and prosperity of the R. F. D.

There are from 1,600 to 2,000 petitions on file now for the establishment of rural routes in the United States, and action on these petitions has been delayed on account of lack of inspection. The maximum salary of carriers has been increased from $500 per annum in 1897 to $900 in 1911, and Congress passed a bill in the lower House this session increasing that to $1,074 per annum for a route of 24 miles, and $44.75 per annum for any number of miles greater than that. While this will be of some help to you, still in my judgment, no class of government employees are so poorly paid as our rural carriers considering the service they are required to perform. The high cost of living applies to the rural carrier as it applies to all citizens. His cost of equipment has increased; the price of food both for himself and his horse, has increased; and the wear and tare on his buggy, and the repairs to the same and to the harness costs much more than the increase in salary.

The National government has recognized the necessity of improving the roads over which you travel, and the House has passed a measure giving rural carriers, an appropriation of $25 a mile for roads that are macadamized; $20 for sand-clay roads, and $15 for improved soil roads, this to be paid by the National treasurer to those having charge of the roads. Therefore, it is incumbent upon you to preach good roads to your patrons in season and out of season, for it is not the intention of the government to send its carriers over roads that are impassable, and there are none that this will hurt any more than those whom you serve by carrying and receiving their mail. There are over 43,000 carriers traveling over a million miles daily, and in the course of a year they travel over three hundred million miles. It is therefore, essential that the roads be maintained in good condition for travel in order to insure uninterrupted delivery and collection of mail on rural routes on a uniform and dependable schedule. The aid given by the government at this session of Congress is estimated to cost $16,000,000, and it is up to you and to all of us, to see to it that our roads are improved to that standard whereby we can get something from the government to maintain them.

Lastly, my friends, whenever and wherever the making of a country appears, there are many factors that enter into the making of a nation great. It does not lie within the strength of our great armies and navies, nor in the great institutions of learning, but in the making of a great and contented people. By rendering unto each other in the brotherhood of man and the fatherhood of God that fellowship that was given to us by Justinian which was, "hurt no man, live honor and render unto every man his just due." No other great courts of our time and land the bulwark of our liberties; but the sole hope of the perpetuity and the welfare of this country in the final analysis is the intelligence, the patriotism, and the prosperity of the plain people:

"Ill-fares the Land, to hastening ills afore,
Where wealth accumulates and men decay.
Princess and Lords may flourish or may fade,
A breath can make them, as a breath has made;
A bold, plain people there countries pride,
When once destroyed can never be supplied."

The hope of this country and its institutions is the preservation of the conditions which enable men to rise to the highest positions in politics, in finance, industry; the maintenance of homogeneous democracy that will enable the boy to plow and at the shovel to become the man upon the bench and in the forum and in all the high places of the country. Give them this condition and all other things will be added.

As you go out daily upon your several avocations in life—As you go out daily upon your several avocations it is meet that you by your influence and by a word spoken here and there, give to those who are not so fortunate as yourself a word of comfort and cheer that will enable them to meet the duties of life, in this life of activity, with a fixed and steady purpose, to do and perform there several duties with which they are daily incumbered.

Your reward may not be received in this life but in the language of the prophet, those who have fought a good fight, and have kept the faith and when their course shall have ended they will receive a richer reward for their labors here, in that home not made with hands eternal in heaven.

"Fight ever on this earthy,
If use God's way will be enough,
Face to the firing line, Oh friend,
Fight out lifes battle's battles to the end;
One soldier, when the fight was read

THE CAROLINA DIAMOND BACK

Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt Speaks to National Shell Fish Commissioners at Boston, Mass.—Many Specimens Are Described in Detail.

Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, State geologist of North Carolina, before the National Association of Shell Fish Commissioners, at Boston, Mass., May 17th, spoke as follows:

One phase of the shell fish industry that has not received the attention which I believe it deserves is the conservation and the cultivation of the Diamond Back Terrapin. This variety of turtle is perhaps the most valuable and most desired of any that are marketed. It is widespread in its occurrence, being found along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts of the United States from Buzzard's Bay, Massachusetts, to Texas.

For some time all the terrapins found along the coast were included in the one species, but in 1904 Mr. W. P. Hay, as the result of a careful investigation and comparison of many specimens from many localities, showed that there are several species distributed about as follows:

Masticlemys centrata (Latreille)—The Carolina Terrapin—From the neighborhood of Cape Hatteras southward to the coast of Florida.
The sub-species, N. centrata concentrica (Shaw)—The Chesapeake Terrapin—From Buzzard's Bay, Massachusetts, to Virginia or North Carolina; Long Island Sound, Delaware and Chesapeake Bays, etc. (See Pl. II, A and B).

M. macrospilota (Hay)—The Florida Terrapin—Western coast of Florida.

M. pileata (Maximilian zu Wied)—The Louisiana Terrapin—So far as known, the range of this terrapin is along the Gulf coast from the region about the mouth of the Mississippi river eastward as far as Mobile Bay, and possibly well along the coast of Florida.

M. litoralis (Hay)—Coast of Texas (Continued on Page 12.)

Threw down his broken sword and fled,
Another snatched it, won the day,
With what his comrade flung away.

Let Your Palate Be Your Doctor

Modern food experts claim that the palate determines the value of food—that “whatever tastes good to you” are the things that you should eat.

When you “tickle the palate” you provide nourishment for the body.

This sounds reasonable. An all-wise Providence has endowed us with this means of discrimination between that which is good and that which is ill for us. Thus is it apparent that bread well deserves its appellation, “the staff of life”. It tastes good and is acknowledged as the most nutritive article of food. Bread is especially good for children 'twixt school-out and mealtime. Give them all they want. It's good for them. Eat more yourself.

Don't forget that the best is

and outlying islands. Both M. centrata and its sub-species, M. centrata concentrica, the “Carolina” and the “Chesapeake” Terrapins, respectively, occur in North Carolina, but in varying proportions in different localities.

These two types seem to be generally accepted by the terrapin dealers, but the differences between the two are not so distinct that one can always distinguish the two forms. This difficulty is especially true in North Carolina, where the two types intermingle.

In North Carolina the Diamond Back Terrapin is restricted in its occurrence to regions of salt and brackish water, not because the terrapin is dependent on salt water, for they have been kept alive many years in fresh water, but probably because the distribution of its natural food supply is confined to salt and brackish waters. As determined by Dr. R. E. Coker, the food of the terrapin in North Carolina consists largely of the small snail, Littorina irrorata (Say), which is found exceedingly abundant on the blades of marsh grass (Spartina), small crabs, such as the fiddler crab (Gelasimus), and at least one species of annelid worm. The terrapins that were kept in confinement in the experimental terrapin ponds at Beaufort were fed on fish, blue crabs, etc.

Dr. Coker examined the stomachs of fourteen terrapins, all of which contained the remains of from two to one hundred and fifty-three snails; six contained remains of crabs, and five contained the remains of annelids (worms).

Since it is probable that the food has much to do with the quality of the meat of the terrapin, it would be essential for the purposes of the practical breeder to know definitely what is the natural food of the Diamond Backs in the localities where the best specimens are found. Hence, it is important that more complete observations be made on this subject, especially on the feeding habits of terrapins in different geographic regions, and in different localities.

The supply of terrapins in North Carolina has been constantly decreasing for many years, and now there are no localities where the fishermen feel that it is profitable to work simply for the terrapin. Most of those that are now put on the market from North Carolina are obtained by the fishermen while in pursuit of some other product of the sea.

I do not wish to take the time of this convention in reading a paper on the life and habits of the terrapin, for most of you are as familiar or more familiar with the subject than I am, but I do want to take up the question of how we can conserve the terrapin. The question that confronts us in North Carolina is, can any plan be devised by which a marine animal which was formerly very abundant but is now very scarce, can again be made abundant? Will the demand for and value of the terrapin warrant the State attempting to prevent its extermination?

Fifty years ago, when the fishery products of Carteret county were either used only for home consumption or else almost entirely neglected, terrapins were bought for seventy-five cents per dozen. It seems to have been in the late sixties that shipping to Northern markets began. At first the prices were quite small, as compared with present prices—about $3.00 per dozen for 5-inch terrapins, or “half counts,” and $6.00 per dozen for 6-inch or “full counts,” in market terminology. Steadily the price rose until a few years ago 6-inch terrapins shipped from Beaufort brought $15.00 in summer to $24.00 per dozen in winter. Now, in winter, the only season in which they are shipped, that size may bring $30.00 to $36.00, the highest prices ordinarily paid for this size. Probably the greater part of the terrapins shipped, however, were undersized and sold at very much lower prices.

Terrapins have been shipped from the following counties: Beaufort, Brunswick, Carteret, Dare, Hyde, New Hanover, Onslow, Pamlico, Pasquotank and Pender. There is considerable variation in the value received for the terrapins from the different counties, the middle and Northern counties, as a rule, obtaining the higher price.

At the present time there is no regular fishing for terrapin, but on account of its market value, every terrapin that is observed while carrying on other forms of fishing, is eagerly caught by the fishermen, regardless of size or time of year, and the process of extermination goes on. It is not only the mature terrapins (5 to 8 inches) that are taken, but even the small ones are caught and sold for whatever they will bring.

The terrapin has not the power to regain its hold within a few years, as the oyster or clam might do. Each female lays but a few eggs and the young that hatch from them undergo many perils. Those that survive the dangers of early life are slow to reach the stage where they may start another generation, and before reaching this stage they are liable to be captured by the fishermen.

Unless some legislative provision be made for its preservation, this fishery will be exhausted. There are two, and only two, methods of preserving the terrapin in North Carolina—propagation and restriction of the fishing.

In regard to the first method, it is impossible at this time to say whether or not breeding of terrapins will become generally practicable. Thus far, no business venture in this direction has been entirely successful. The chief stumbling blocks seem to have been:

1. The failure to get terrapins to breed satisfactorily in the close confinement usually offered.
2. The want of knowledge of the habits of the young and the conditions necessary for their development.

The experiments of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries have removed some of the difficulties, but until the experiments have reached a further stage, a decision cannot be rendered as to the practicability of propagation. We may, therefore, say that the only present visible hope for the preservation of the terrapin fishery lies in the restriction of the fishery by adequate legislation which must be passed and enforced by the States.

The present laws in North Carolina relating to the terrapin are as follows: 2369. Use of Drag-Nets by Non-Residents for Catching Terrapins Forbidden.—If any person who is not a citizen and who has not resided in the State continuously for the preceding two years, shall use any drag-net or other instrument for catching terrapin, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Code, ss. 3375, 3376.

2370. Diamond-Back Terrapin Protected.—If any person shall take or catch any diamond-back terrapin between the fifteenth day of April and the fifteenth day of August of any year, or any diamond-back terrapin at any time of less size than five inches in length upon the bottom shell, or shall interfere with, or in any manner destroy any eggs of the diamond-back terrapin, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined not less than five dollars nor more than ten dollars, for each and every diamond-back terrapin so taken or caught, and a like sum for each and every egg interfered with or destroyed; Provided, this section shall not apply to parties empowered by the State to propagate the said diamond-back terrapin; and the possession of any diamond-back terrapin between the fifteenth day of April and August shall be prima facie evidence that the person having the same violated this section. It shall be the duty of all sheriffs and constables to give immediate information to some justice of the peace of any violation of this section.

There are some very good provisions in this law, and if they had been enforced, terrapin would still be abundant in North Carolina. On account of the depleted condition of the terrapin industry additional legislation must be enacted, if the terrapin is to be kept from extermination.

There should be a closed season, extending from March-1st to September-1st, which should be rigidly enforced; the law regarding size should also be strictly enforced, as only a very rigid enforcement will accomplish anything; or it may be necessary to prohibit the taking of terrapins for a period of years.

The law can be made more effective by making it illegal for any person or company to receive or have for transportation undersized terrapins; also by making the possession of eggs or of undersized terrapins, or of any terrapins during the closed season, illegal, instead of, as now, “prima facie evidence of violation of the law.”

Professionally Speaking.—“My dear, would you have time to sew a button on for me before you go?” “I’ve told you before, Alfred, Jane will do it for you. Please remember you married a typewriter, not a sewing machine.”—San Francisco Chronicle.

LAYMEN IN CAMPAIGN.

Col. J. L. Ludlow Discusses Question Before Anti-Tuberculosis Meeting.

Washington, May 30.—The share of “The Layman in the Anti-Tuberculosis Campaign” was described by Col. J. L. Ludlow, of Winston-Salem, N. C., in a paper read tonight before the Advisory Council of The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

“In community life, tuberculosis is a social burden of vast proportions,” the speaker said. “It involves practically every other phase of civic life in which are usually classed our social problems. Even immorality and vice cannot be excepted. The causes of tuberculosis, and its prevention, embrace the problems of child labor regulations, school facilities, housing conditions, low wages, long hours, cost of living, factory conditions, private and public sanitation. As each of these pertain to personal and public health and to the impairment of physical strength and vigor, so do they measure the effective infection and prevalence of tuberculosis in community life.”

“The degree of prevalence of tuberculosis in a community or city does not measure the standard of medical practice. But it is a correct and infallible index of the private and public hygienic habits and conditions of the community. It is the disease barometer of wrong living and defective sanitary environment. Only to a small degree may we hope for its solution by the physician, or by the most aggressive public health officers without the active co-operation and support of other municipal officials and by the general public as well.”

“When among the laymen of a community there shall have been developed a true conception of civic duty in the anti-tuberculosis campaign, then will they become actively interested in the quality and character of the public water supply, and in the disposal of sewage, garbage and other waste products; in clean back yards; in the care of streets and other public places, and in the problem of dust and dirt prevention; in the provision of parks and public playgrounds for outdoor recreation; in the proper housing and feeding of the poor; in the prompt reporting of all infectious and contagious diseases by all practicing physicians; in the proper observance and enforcement of isolation and quarantine of infectious and contagious diseases, and of disinfection and proper disposal of germ-laden excretions; in a properly organized and faithfully executed plan of registering vital statistics; in the proper inspection of the meat and milk supply, and other food products; in the proper teaching of personal and community hygiene in the public schools and Sunday schools, and its advocacy by the pulpit, the press and in State and city offices. With an active interest in such factors of community life on the part of the public, then will there be a reasonable hope for the universal application of the sanitary gospel that, in the warfare waged by the microscope and foci of human life against the health and happiness of mankind, unremitting vigilance and intelligently directed combat is the price of safety.”

THE HORNE MONUMENT.

Henry Bacon and Augustus Lukeman Are the Designers.

New York, May 28.—In memory of the North Carolina women of the Confederacy, Augustus Lukeman, who has lived for many years in the North, although of Southern birth, has been selected to design a monument to be erected on the grounds of the State capitol at Raleigh. It will be presented to the State by Ashley Horne.

The small model on which he is working is a radical departure from other memorials of the kind, which generally are influenced by the Greek art, no matter how American is the spirit which they are intended to commemorate. The architectural part of the monument, which has been placed in charge of Henry Bacon, the architect of the Lincoln memorial, is in the form of an exedra—raised platform with steps and a seat. Before this will be a group emblematic of the past and the present of the South.

A grandmother in the flowing garb of the epoch of the war, is seated on a chair and at her knee is her grandchild, a lad of six or seven years, holding the sash of his father. The grandmother is telling him the deeds of the Southern soldiers in the War Between the States. Her face bears the nobility of suffering and sorrow, and she is telling the story of the lost cause without a sign of bitterness or malice. In the background are two bas-reliefs, one showing the soldiers leaving for the war, the other representing the crushed and battered legions in their return.

TO TUNNEL MOUNTAINS.

Cost Millions to Connect C. & O. and Carolina Road.

(Raleigh News and Observer.) Railroad building is the order of the day. The latest is that contracts have been awarded by the Carolina, Clinchfield & Ohio Railroad for a mammoth undertaking of extending the road to the heart of the mountains. It is to be a 40-mile extension running from Dante, Va., through the very heart of the Allegheny Mountains, to a connection with the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad at Elkhorn, Ky.

It is the largest piece of railroad construction let in this country in recent years, and by reason of the mountainous country through which it runs, the work will be of the heaviest kind of construction and very expensive. The total cost will be more than $5,000,000. One of the 19 tunnels to be built will be 800 feet long, which is the longest railroad tunnel east of Chicago. The coal-carrying roads are tunneling through the mountains and are resolved to leave no stone unturned to bring the coal to the seacoast cities.

Move on Now! says a policeman to a street crowd, and whacks heads if it don't. “Move on now,” says the big, harsh mineral pills to bowel congestion and suffering follows. Dr. King's New Life Pills don't bulldoze the bowels. They gently persuade them to right action, and health follows. 25c at R. R. Beilamy.

T. U. VAUGHN ARRESTED.

Superintendent of Orphanage Charged With Assaulting Girl.

Greenville, S. C., May 31.—T. U. Vaughn, former superintendent of the South Carolina Odd Fellows' Orphanage, located at Greenville, for whose arrest a warrant was sworn out Wednesday by the board of trustees, charging him with committing assault upon the person of one of the orphan girls under his care at the time he was in charge of the institution, was placed in the county jail late this afternoon.

Vaughn, who had been out of the city for several days and ignorant of the charges that had been preferred against him, returned to Greenville this afternoon from Newport News, Va., where he claims he has been visiting relatives. Upon being informed by a brother, according to the sheriff, that such charges had been preferred against him, Vaughn got back on the train, alighted on the opposite side and fled. He was arrested eight miles from the city about three hours after the officers learned of his having reached here.

He was superintendent of the orphanage for seven years, was assistant superintendent of a large Sunday School, teacher of a Sunday School class, and prominent in all church work.

His arrest has created a sensation here. He protests his innocence.

MOSTLY CONTEMPTIVE

By T. W. C.

Life should be a ceaseless prayer of petition and thanksgiving.

Blessed be the man who can look back over his past without a blush; and forward without a fear.

A man who would be a great reasoner, should be reasonable, and where reason ends, should walk by faith.

The Lord save us from the man who is irreligiously religious. "The worst of madness is a saint run mad."

"Come wander with me, she said, into regions yet untrod, and read what is still unread in the manuscripts of God."

Silence is often the best answer to an unjust accusation. Time has a way of righting things. Time not only flies but justifies.

A Christian may get in the mud, but he is still a Christian. A pagan may walk in spotless splendor, but he is a pagan still.

Laziness is a species of suicide that should never be permitted. We never know a lazy man to accomplish anything worth while.

When we advertise Christ as zealously as we do our wares, the Kingdom won't be far off. Oh, for a zeal that is consuming.

Indigestion has sometimes been the occasion of suicide. We should study the needs of our bodies as well as of our souls.

Immodest words admit of no defense. For want of decency is want of sense!

Oh, what authority and show of truth, can cunning can cover itself with!

The difference in the meanness of mortals is only one of degree, and all meanness is essentially of the same kind. Sin is originally in the singular number.

I feel my immortality o'ersweep all pains, all tears, all time, all fears and zeal.

Into my ear this truth, "Thou livest forever."

"He is young and must sow his wild oats." Yes, and he will be old, and will just as certainly reap them.

Youth is not a sufficient apology for sin. Age so often becomes a period of punishment.

There are four kinds of readers. One reads for pleasure; another for the sake of reading, another for personal profit, and still another for helping himself, that he may help others.

Instead of saying the "world for Christ in this generation," it would be far better to say that "we'll carry Christ to the world in this generation. It is the business of Christ to bring to the world to himself, and ours only to take Him to the world."

There is a poor forlorn being who is wandering to and fro in this busy world with whom no one is willing to claim any relationship or connection. All with few exceptions, shun him as though spotted with the plague, yet every person maintains that this forsaken being is connected with nearly every other individual except himself, and that others ought to take care and attend to him. Who is this poor shunned wanderer with whom none wish to claim alliance? It is Individual Responsibility.

How prone we hate to shift responsibility from our own shoulders upon those of our neighbors. We are clear-sighted enough to see what things ought to be done and think that we understand perfectly who are the persons that ought to do them. We are ready at all times to say such and such things ought to be performed—it is a sin and a shame that they are not done, but it is not my duty to do them—that belongs to this or that neighbor. Now, would it not be better if we should examine more carefully and minutely what we ourselves ought to do, and not devote our so much time and labor to find out what is the duty of others?

Are we free from any responsibility? And if we can see so clearly what is the duty of others, is it not our duty to tell them of it? It may be that they are ignorant of the obligation resting upon them, and if they were kindly informed of their duty, they would cheerfully perform it. At least, it would take no more time or words to do this than it does to tell a dozen others that such and such individuals ought to do many things which they neglect.

One should not condemn an entire audience for the faults of a few. But it is rather hard for a preacher to fail to note the habits of the people who come to church. Some do not have the habit. They come very intermittently and that is itself a habit, a very pointed mannerism. Some people come to church with air that they are conferring a special favor on the preacher and even on the Almighty by so doing. They expect unusual notice to be taken of their presence, and, if this is not done, they become offended and feel slighted. They are always on the lookout for "slights" and they usually succeed in finding something personal in the sermon.

Most people are unwilling in front at church. They will pay higher prices for front seats at a concert or lecture, but will pay more, if necessary, for back seats at church. This is a curious development in modern church life. The Pharisees, on the other hand, made a point of the front seats so as to be seen of men. Perhaps people have reacted to the other extreme. But the preacher often laments the rows of empty seats in front of him. They are very depressing.

Many people are late at church, not once or twice, but regularly. They would be late if they lived next door. It is constitutional with them. It is even suspected that a few people love to come to church late for the stately march down the aisle in the presence of the great audience. Some folks always come in just after the collection. Then again, some leave just before the sermon begins. That is always an inspiring experience for the preacher to see a bunch of young people escape just as he rises to begin the sermon.

The conduct of the audience during the sermon is a study in itself. Some are eager for the exposition of the Scriptures, have their Bibles ready and follow the sermon with eagerness and obedient ears. Others take it as a matter of course, as part of the day's duty, and stolidly square themselves for the usual experience waiting for the end. Some are utterly unable to keep awake during the sermon and either sleep continuously or spasmodically. Others are fidgety and restless. They look at their watches or yawn or read the hymn book or the church calendar. They gaze out of the window or whisper to a companion. They may write notes or just look bored. The preacher has to run against a great mass of indifference in the average audience.

EDUCATIONAL EXPOSITION

San Diego's Plan for Great Show in Year 1915

San Diego, Cal., June 1.—Declaring that the world has had a surfeit of "commercial" exhibitions and that such do not do good, Gifford Pinchot, of conservation fame, put his stamp of approval on San Diego's plan to hold an "educational" exposition in 1915.

Mr. Pinchot was taken over the grounds, past the nurseries filled with millions of ferns, plants and flowers and through the forest of 50,000 growing trees, which will form a background for the scenic attractions of the exposition. Anything growing in the soil appeals to Mr. Pinchot; his towering frame of six feet two will bow in homage to a tiny fern or a delicate plant.

"I am amazed at the magnitude and splendor of your exposition," said Mr. Pinchot, "and I am all the more delighted now that I hear it is to be in the truest sense of a 'conservation' exposition, teaching, among other subjects, the latest methods of irrigation—of intense interest to Southern California, the Southwest and, in fact, to the entire world."

"The San Diego exposition will be of inestimable value in showing a process rather than a product, because it thus can teach the world the best way to obtain the good the world has in store for us. I stand ready to lend all aid in my power to your great project."

San Diego's exposition will be international in its scope. The board of directors has extended an invitation to the Governors of every State in use Union and to every foreign ruler, requesting participation.

Ellehammer, a Copenhagen inventor, claims to have made a discovery which will enable big steamships to locate icebergs and rocks accurately at a distance of 1,200 yards through darkness or fog. HOME HEALTH CLUB

By Dr. David H. Reeder, La Porte, Indiana.

They Are Learning—More and more, every day, the Home Health Club is finding reason for self-gratulation that its constant urgings are having effect that is as widespread as the public prints. Many special articles are appearing in the newspapers endorsing and emphasizing our theories and methods in the use of Nature's remedies for the cure and the prevention of disease. An example of this is a prominent article in a late Chicago daily headed: "Making What You Eat Your Medicine." This speaks of how primitive people and animals cure all their ills by eating curative vegetables and fruits and how they instinctively understand the healing properties that are contained in the great storehouse of nature. It repeats what the Home Health Club so often says, "If a man understood and applied the same laws that these savages and animals do, he would need no doctor."

Pineapple has been regarded as an indigestible food and it is when the pulp is swallowed. The juice alone contains the medicinal quality, and this should not be sweetened, but slightly salted. This juice has a digestive principle much like pepsin. In diphtheritic sore throat and croup it acts quickly and most favorably, the powerful penetrating acid serving to dissolve the false membrane to the great relief of the patient.

Beets help to make new, good blood and should be eaten raw for this purpose and served as a salad with oil and lemon juice.

Celery is strong in medicinal effects, helpful in nervousness, nervous depression, rheumatism and neuralgia. It should be chewed until the juices are extracted, and none of the pulp should be swallowed. The green leaves and the roots boiled make an excellent soup for the purpose mentioned.

Lettuce cools the system, and it is good for sleeplessness and it should be eaten green. When it is white, it has been bleached and much of its medicinal quality is taken from it.

Carrots are excellent for the blood, for asthma and nervousness. They should be eaten raw, finely chopped and served as salad with lettuce and dressing.

Tomatoes are good for the liver, acting directly upon that organ. They should always be eaten raw when as medicine. Heat destroys the vegetable table calomel in them. The skin should never be eaten.

Spinach, dandelion and asparagus are all good for the kidneys. Asparagus should be used only in Spring and Summer.

The onion is the king of vegetable medicines. It is excellent for nervousness, sleeplessness and as a binding to sore throats. Onion syrup is potent in the cure of coughs, colds, hoarseness, and is well-known as an old-fashioned and perfect remedy.

Of lemons a great doctor has said that if they cost a dollar apiece they would be the greatest remedy known for numerous ills. For fevers, rheumatism, liver trouble, sore throat, biliousness and cold, they are without a rival. Never combine the lemon with sugar or other cane products, molasses and the like. Sugar instantly destroys the medicinal value of lemon juice.

Watermelon is of great value in yellow fever cases and in Erysipelas. Under circumstances of general nature, they are good for kidney and especially bladder troubles. The pulp should be swallowed when the watermelon is used medicinally.

Dear Doctor:—For over a year I have been bothered with my left side. Under the lower rib there is a bad pain nearly all the time. On pressure it hurts. I have had gastric when I press it. Bad taste in mouth, and bowels out of order all the time.

Dirigibles in Italian Army—Depopulation of British Isles—Opening of Panama Canal—Manufacture of Matches.

London, June 1.—The latest thing in courtesies between belligerents has just been provided by Commander Deuti, chief of the dirigibles used by the Italian army in Tripoli.

Some time ago while circling the Arab position Deuti photographed the explosion of a shrapnel which was fired at him. On developing the negative Deuti found that he had a rare picture and his curiosity regarding the gun which had fired the shell was aroused. He knew that a Turkish captain of artillery was in command of the battery which had fired him and circling over the position again he dropped a copy of the photograph and a polite request that he be furnished with the type and calibre of the gun which had been used in firing the shrapnel. He also asked what means of aiming was used and the interests of aviation were given as the excuse for the unusual request.

The commander closed the note by thanking the Turkish captain and expressing the hope that they might meet on earth. No reply has been received from the Turks.

Trials for the purpose of testing the usefulness of bloodhounds on cold trails held on Salisbury Plain have proven a striking success. The hounds fell to two young hounds, owned by Capt. Noel Llewellyn, chief constable of Wiltshire. Moonlight, a puppy of 15 months, was put upon a six hours cold trail and in spite of the fact that it was a bad scenting day, she ran her quarry to earth in four miles and picked out her man from a group. Prail, the second hound, six months older than Moonlight, was equally successful. The pups are the progeny of Shadower, noted in the Midlands as a great manhunter.

The depopulation of the British Isles is becoming a serious menace to the future of the United Kingdom and just now the press is devoting much space to it because of the large number of emigrants pouring through Liverpool on their way to America. Many hundreds are leaving every week and not one in hundreds comes back except for a holiday. Many of the emigrants are stout, healthy looking girls without a chance of marriage in their own villages and the lure of almost immediate matrimony on arriving in America has made them respond promptly to the circulars of the emigration agents. One of the agents declares that since the beginning of the season 8,000 domestic servants and farm laborers have been taken to Canada by a single steamship line. He figures that the total for all the lines must be at least 50,000.

The hot Summer of last year and the present dry Spring has produced a crop of insect pests which threaten to overwhelm the usual fruit and vegetable output of the season. The great hopfields of Kent are menaced with a blight which only the most persistent spraying can keep in check and even the oak trees are suffering from a plague of small green caterpillars which threaten to destroy the foliage. Some of the trees have already been stripped and in the ancient natural park at Richmond scarcely a tree is immune.

To complicate matters a plague has attacked the bees of the kingdom and there are grave fears that a lack of pollenization may cause the complete failure of the fruit crop. Unless there are bees to carry the pollen from the anthers to the stigmas there will be blossoms without fruit and it is estimated that with the assistance of a relatively small number of other insects practically all of this work is done by the ordinary honey bee. A plague known as the Isle of Wight disease has wrought such havoc among the bees that the fruit grower has been forced to take over the task himself and many of them are busy with rabbit and camel hair brushes collecting pollen from one flower and painting it into another.

To add to their troubles the fruit growers are facing an invasion of wasps. The orchardists are, therefore, looking for two species, one to save the bee and another to kill the wasp.

The coming seaside season promises to witness the doom of two ancient institutions, bathing machines and the segregation of the sexes in the water. At many resorts the clumsy bathing machine will be succeeded by comfortable dressing rooms, carpeted and furnished with every convenience. Many corporations which have hitherto forbidden mixed bathing are advertising the custom as one of the pleasant features of their cities.

In the French Capital. Paris, June 1.—As the time for the opening of the Panama Canal approaches, European countries are showing more and more interest in the probable political and commercial effects of the cutting of the two Americas by a waterway.

France, from a political standpoint, has practically no interest in the canal. The political problems and possible quarrels of France of the future, lie solely in Europe, it is agreed. But from a commercial standpoint, the opening of the canal is of the greatest importance, and the French Commission, which is now in American waters trying to find a suitable coaling station for French merchant ships, has been instructed to study the problem from every standpoint, as France wishes to find new markets for her exports.

An example of the interest in the canal is had in the examinations which are now given to candidates for the French consular and diplomatic service. One of the most important questions requires an explanation of the results of the opening of the Suez Canal on the general movement of economic relations and the influence which the opening of the Panama Canal is likely to have on these relations.

Much interest has been aroused in Switzerland by the arrival of a band of German "simple lifters", numbering about a dozen and consisting of naturalists, with their wives, a writer and a photographer. They have reached the Buddhist monastery at Lausanne, on a tour around the world on foot, several of them traveling barefoot. The journey they hope to accomplish within five or six years. Their motto is taken from Heine: "God gave us two legs to walk with and if he wished us to be the slaves of the soil one leg would have sufficed."

The "simple lifters", who are all vegetarians and believers in open air, have undertaken the trip around the world to study the religions, customs and costumes of the different countries they pass through. They continue their journey by Italy, Austria, Turkey, Asia Minor, Persia, India, Tibet, China and Japan, thence to the United States, returning by ship to Spain and then up to Lapland, returning eventually to Germany. All the "simple lifters" are in good health and very enthusiastic. They have passports and money and the leader is stated to be a well known German writer.

A group of enthusiastic admirers of the famous Spanish torero, Rafael Molina, have decided to erect a monument to him in his native town of Cordova. The idea has met with general approval. Gossip—Two.

The bull fight shows no falling off as the great Spanish public sport. In 1911 there were 872 combats throughout the country, which were witnessed by over 7,000,000 spectators, who contributed more than $4,000,000 in gate money. The celebrated matador, Machaquito, earned about $80,000, having put to death about 60 bulls. About 4,500 bulls were killed in 1911, and they represented a value of over $1,000,000. These same bulls caused the death of 5,600 horses before they themselves went down under the knife of the matador.

The Portuguese government has decided to sell so much of the furniture and valuables of the royal palaces which are recognized as belonging to King Manuel and his mother as will return $5,000,000—the amount which was advanced by the State to the late King Carlos. The property includes the crown jewels, valued at $4,000,000, which are kept at the Necessidades palace, and Dona Miguel's jewels, which are deposited in the Bank of Portugal, and are valued at $2,500,000.

The French State match factories, which turn out annually about fifty billions of matches, have hitherto obtained all the wood they required from Russia. Attempts had been made to grow in France the special kind of aspen used, but without success, single trees thriving, but plantations growing badly in spite of every care.

In consequence the price of Russian aspen has been rising considerably, and it is proposed that poplar trees, which apparently give wood of the desired qualities—absence of knots, lightness, homogeneity of fibre and cleanness of grain—should be cultivated on a large scale in France. At present the principal factory which turns out the sulphur matches generally used in France imports over 25,000 cubic meters of aspen wood from Russia, and it is pointed out that the growing of poplar trees on a sufficient large scale to supply this quantity would prove a very profitable undertaking.

MINISTER EGAN'S VISIT

Trip South in Connection With Southern Commercial Congress

Washington, June 1.—Dr. Maurice Egan, United States minister to Denmark, has just returned from a tour of the South under auspices of the Southern Commercial Congress, promoted by the Congress to show farmers of the South, through Dr. Egan, something of intensive farming methods in Denmark.

Denmark naturally one of the smallest and poorest countries in Europe, through intensive farming, has become in a few years one of the most prosperous and wealthiest, per capita, in the world. It was to describe to Southern farmers the marvelous story of achievement of financial independence, even wealth, of the Danish farmers, that Dr. Egan made his Southern tour.

The Southern Commercial Congress suggested to the State Department that Dr. Egan's knowledge of the success the Danes have achieved in intensive farming would be of immense advantage to Southern farmers. The State Department gave Dr. Egan a furlough, and sent him on the Southern trip. Starting from the great Nashville convention of the Congress on April 10th, he visited Shelbyville, Ky.; St. Louis, Dallas and Houston, Texas; New Orleans, Jackson, Miss.; Birmingham, Athens, Ga.; Charleston, S. C.; Greensboro and Raleigh, N. C.; and Roanoke, Va. In each of these cities Dr. Egan lectured to immense audiences of farmers, and described the Danish farming methods. His lecture, which was received with great enthusiasm everywhere he went, probably will be published as an official bulletin of the Department of Agriculture, for circulation throughout the nation.

Dr. Egan will return to his post at Copenhagen June 6th. He said today he was delighted with his special mission to the South, and hoped that his exposition of farming in Denmark would be of advantage to Southern planters. It is probable that next year the State Department will detail him on a similar mission, under auspices of the Southern Commercial Congress, to visit all the State Legislatures in the South and tell the lawmakers about Danish farming. This would undoubtedly have an important effect on agricultural legislation. Since his return to Washington Dr. Egan has received a great number of letters from farmers and public men along the route of his tour, thanking him for the privilege of hearing the lectures.

Denmark, said Dr. Egan today, "twenty years ago was in a poverty-stricken state. The farmers were poor. Today, through intensive farming Denmark is prosperous and happy. Practically every Danish farmer owns his own land. Bacon, butter and eggs have made the Danes a wealthy people. Products of the farms are marketed through co-operative creameries and stores owned by the farmers themselves. This system has made Danish butter a standard of excellence and high price known all over the world. Not an inch of ground or natural fertilizer is ever wasted in Denmark. If the Southern farmers, who waste so much of their lands, and in many instances wear out their farms, would adopt the Danish methods the South would become the wealthiest section of the globe in a short time."

FORESTRY WORK.

Service is Raising Bigtree Seedlings in California Preserve.

Washington, D. C., June 1.—The Forest Service is raising several acres of Bigtree seedlings on the Tahoe National Forest in California, at a more northerly point than any natural Bigtree grove. While the giant sequoias are found in the forests of the Sierras at various points throughout a total range of some 250 miles, in the northernmost range of this range there is practically no natural reproduction. It has consequently been a question whether the species would not practically disappear from this region when the present mature trees die.

The most northern existing grove of Bigtrees is on a rising slope, about 34 miles southeast of the site selected for planting. This site is on a moist flat not far from Nevada City, and is about 2,700 feet above sea level. The first seedling was done in the Fall of 1910, with very successful results, and last Fall an additional area was seeded.

The method used in planting the seed was that known to foresters as "the seed spot method." Spots about six feet apart each way were prepared by pulverizing the earth with a garden hoe. Seeds were then dropped on these spots and lightly pressed in the soil with the foot. The flourishing condition of the young seedlings gives good reason to expect a future growth of Bigtrees at this point. With protection of forests from fire there seems to be no reason why the Bigtrees should disappear, even though scientists regard them as survivors from a past age, botanically speaking.

WANT BETTER BANKING PLAN

Financial Republic Proposed—Social Chaffeurs Now the Thing—May or Gaynor a Farmer—Gotham News Notes.

New York, June 1.—The proposal for the establishment in this country of a financial republic as the most effective means of providing a really effective and panic preventing banking system, as put forward by Irving T. Bush, while it is likely to cause uneasiness in certain parts of Wall Street, has aroused much interest here and resulted in general discussion not only among bankers, but laymen as well.

The proposal, however, does not contemplate a change in our present form of government to a plutocracy, but merely the establishment of a co-operative system among the banks throughout the country. "There may be differences of opinion upon many phases of the question of banking reform," said Mr. Bush in explaining the idea of a financial republic, "but there is an absolute unanimity of opinion upon the point that our banking and currency must never be under the control of either the politician or the great special interests. In advocating a financial republic I mean a co-operative control of the banking and currency system by the people and for the people, an elective control representative in the highest sense of our best banking and business intelligence. The stockholders of our present banks select their best men to serve as their directors. The directors of these banks will select their best men to serve as directors of the local associations. The local associations will again choose their best men as directors of the branches of the Central Association; and finally the process of elimination will be completed by the selection of the best men among the branches of the Central Association—equal in importance to our Supreme Court—the directors of the National Association." While the idea of such a financial republic may not meet with Wall Street's unqualified approval, such an attitude on the part of the financiers of the country is generally regarded as one of its strongest endorsements.

To the long list of gainful pursuits open to women in New York there has just been added the novel one of "social chaffeurs"—one which bids to rival the field in point of popularity and financial return. Any woman thirsting for business success combined with pleasurable occupation should become a "social chaffeur"—that is, after a course at Vassar or Wellesley. This new calling was originated by the wife of a physician, whose assets were a luxurious automobile, a Wellesley education and an original idea, the last being a belief that lonely invalid, convalescent or aged women desiring an outing would prefer her services to those of a male chaffeur. Business along this line soon justified the purchase of an electric coupe and spreading into other fields has resulted so far in the acquisition of a second gasoline car, an order placed for a third, the employment of two Vassar graduates as assistants, negotiations opened for a private garage and the establishment of a luxurious home for the three faithful chaffeurs. The originator of the scheme is finding the greatest patronage and widest field for her personal equipment among wealthy feminine guests of the big hotels. Such a customer, the social chaffeur points out, has all she desires but some one to talk to. That is where the college education comes in; for finding that the social chaffeur is an agreeable conversationalist, a social equal and an altogether companionable person, these women make constant demand upon her time. The social chaffeur wears a gown appropriate to the occasion. It may be a trip to the shops, an afternoon matinee, or an evening function, but in the majority of cases the social chaffeur is invited to participate in the pastime. All time is charged for, however; the minimum rate is three dollars an hour with $1 extra for each additional person. The highest charge is made in instances where a nurse is furnished at $7 per hour.

The fact that Mayor Gaynor is a farmer has enabled him to settle a controversy which for a time threatened to involve the Department of Charities unpleasantly with the truckers supplying their vegetables. The Department of Charities insisted among other things upon being supplied with carrots of a uniform size and issued an edict against growing cabbages. The truckers sent a protest to the Mayor, calling attention to the fact that carrots persisted in growing different sizes and that new cabbage was always green. Mayor Gaynor, who is reputed to be an authority on peas, agriculture and the raising of hogs, stepped to the rescue of the truckers in a letter pointing out that although carrots of uniform size might make a better appearance they would taste no different and stating further that only Nature was at fault in refusing to produce white cabbage except by a slow process of aging. The letter wound up with a suggestion that the officials of the Department of Charities go to any nearby farm "so that they might at least learn the difference between their knee and their elbow about vegetables." As a result of the publicity given the matter the protests of the department have been silenced and assorted sizes of carrots and cabbages of verdant hue are being regular furnished.

Broadway's show girls are just now undergoing much mental anguish arising from a conflict between their desire to conform to the fashion and to retain their profession. This distressing question originated with the statement of Dr. Karl Kränke, of Munich, that narrow skirts were producing a universal crop of knock knees. Upon learning of the German doctor's statement a prominent theatrical producer lined up his small army of chorus girls to verify or disprove the indictment. Symptoms were found sufficiently alarming to cause a hurry order for special apparatus resulting in makeshift collection of ankle braces, padding straps, block and tackle and barbell. The method of treatment utilizing the block and tackle involves the fastening of a rope with buckle attachment to each knee where interference is indicated. The end of one rope is then attached to a wall. A scene shifter grasping the free end of the other rope pulls steadily but firmly for a stipulated period. After this the patient goes through the process of "riding the barrel" with feet drawn taught and held beneath it. Present indications are that an international complication is likely to arise should Dr. Kränke be recognized in Broadway by show girls. It is also predicted that the hobble skirt will lose vogue.

A curious result of the introduction of new bus paid wagons by the police department has been the discovery of the length to which the congested East Side is willing to go for its amusement. The first appearance of the patrols among the tenement children aroused enthusiasm as a new device of the social settlements to provide them with free rides. Keen disappointment followed the discovery of the real nature of the autos. An unexpected turn has occurred, however, and at present the police are being put to much trouble riding willful offenders to the station. Growns have indicated the children's effort to ride in the new autos with the result that everyone is becoming expert in selecting a degree of misdoing which will provide free ride and avoid a sentence. Even an occasional miscalculation fails to check the eagerness for the new mode of transport. The triumphal note in the proud assertion frequently made that "Pop took an auto ride last night" made by a proud archer.

A FINE TESTIMONIAL

Maj. J. J. Crosswell Held in High Esteem by Express Employees. (Bennettsville Advocate.) Major Crosswell, for 25 years has been coming to Bennettsville in his official capacity as route agent, and all who know him love him and in his home he is ever absorbed in the interest of his company, yet in his dignified courteous manner in transacting business, adjusting claims, soliciting business he always made friends for himself and his company. We understand that Mr. Buckner, the superintendent of the Wilmington, N. C., in order to facilitate business and accommodate the growing patronage of his company has found it necessary to divide the territory and has established another route agency, with headquarters at Sumter, S. C., and that all points in the area of the Wilmington, N. C., on Bennettsville branch will be under the supervision of the Sumter agency. Mr. Crosswell will continue to reside in Fayetteville and will retain the Dillon, Latta and Florence territory as heretofore, but the patrons in this section will deeply regret that this genial and courteous gentleman will no longer serve them.

The agents and employees on the Fayetteville and Bennettsville branch upon being notified of the change, immediately circulated the following petition, which was signed by every employee on the branch. This petition is quite a compliment to Maj. Crosswell, and on account of his numerous friends in Marlboro we are publishing the petition issued by those who served him.

To Mr. Walter Buckner, Superintendent, Atlantic Division, Express Company, Wilmington, N. C., Dear Sir:—We, the employees of the Fayetteville and Bennettsville route, have herewith affixed our signatures for the purpose of giving expression to our sincere and genuine feelings of disappointment and disapproval of the removal of Maj. Crosswell from the territory. Maj. J. J. Crosswell, is to be removed from this territory.

For the past 25 years Mr. Crosswell has been visiting our offices in his official capacity, and by his genial and courteous attitude, polite and satisfactory manner of transacting business, at all times won the respect, confidence and love of his subordinates. Mr. Crosswell diligently guarded the interests of the Southern Express Company, and the thousands of patrons along this route have ever spoken in terms most commendable of his official actions and business dealings.

Should he be withdrawn from this territory, we will feel like almost a brother had left us, and we earnestly pray and hereby petition you, sir, to prevent the removal of Maj. Crosswell from this territory. If consistent with his business progress and arrangement, that Mr. Crosswell be allowed to remain as route agent of this territory.

The sentiment and request embodied in this petition is the sincere sentiment and desire of every patron on this line, and we further state that Mr. Crosswell has no knowledge of the circulation of this paper.

May 1st, 1912. Respectfully, etc.

THE CAUSE OF TYPHOID FEVER.

Typoid fever is caused by a germ. These germs grow in the intestines of typhoid patients but are never known to originate elsewhere or develop spontaneously. Every germ is a descendant from another germ of the same kind. Every case of typhoid comes from some other case of the same disease. The disease is contracted by swallowing the germs in our food and drink.

Typoid fever is a disgrace. It indicates the nastiest kind of filth pollution in our food supply. It indicates conclusively that food matter from some other typhoid patient has been eaten or drunk. The tiniest amount will cause the disease. One fly can carry enough filth on its dirty feet to cause a dozen cases. One drink of water from a polluted well will frequently cause the disease. Be careful what you eat and drink. Boiling dangerous water will kill the typhoid germs and make it safe for drinking. Sanitary privies and screens will greatly reduce the dangers from flies.

A man will talk about public duty a lot more enthusiastically than he will do it.

NEW SOUTHERN ENTERPRISES

Some Important Developments Announced by Manufacturers' Record This Week—Railroad Extensions.

(Special Star Correspondence.) Baltimore, June 1.—Several important railroad developments have taken place in the South during the past week. One of them, which will provide for a new coal route westward, is the announcement by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad that it will build a line 26 miles long from Winchester southeast to Irvine, Ky., and a short connection between Beattyville and Athol, Ky., which will link up the Louisville & Atlantic division with the big extension to the eastern Kentucky coal fields that is now approaching completion. This will give a down grade haul for loaded coal trains from Letcher county to Winchester, Ky., and beyond, as the line between Winchester and Paris, 17 miles, will be revised and improved to correspond. It is further reported that the Louisville & Nashville will build an extension to connect with the Chesapeake & Ohio and the Clinchfield Railway, near the Breaks of Sandy. This would require about 30 miles of new construction along Elk Horn creek.

The Clinchfield sold $5,000,000 of new 5 per cent. notes to finance the construction of its extension from Dante to Elk Horn City and the contractor is preparing to rush the work, which it is hoped to complete in 18 months. Upon the heels of the announcement that the Clinchfield would build its extension came the sale of the Cumberland Corporation, which controls the Clinchfield, of a large block of Seaboard Air Line stock, which it had held as collateral, for $15,000,000 of Cumberland Corporation notes, that came due in July. This sale gave rise to a rumor that the Seaboard was about to change hands, but interested parties have contradicted this report by statements that the stock was bought by interests already in the Seaboard and that there would be no change in its control.

The sale of the Piedmont Railroad, a short line 21 miles long between Thomasville and Denton, N. C., was announced. It was bought by W. P. Coler & Co., of New York, who are already interested in electric railways and lighting enterprises in and near Greensboro, N. C., and an extension of the road is expected.

It may also be noted that the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad has put in service the new double track tunnel at Kingwood, W. Va., over the Alleghenies on the Cincinnati route, thus giving it three tracks through the mountains, the old single track tunnel being continued in service. The company is also building at Sand Patch, Pa., on the Pittsburgh route another double track tunnel alongside the old single track tunnel, which, when completed, will give another three track crossing of the Alleghenies.

Among other Southern industrial and developmental enterprises announced in this week's issue of the Manufacturers' Record are:

EAST RIVER HOMES

Relation of the Foundation to Prevention of Tuberculosis. Washington, May 31.—What is being done for tuberculosis families through the East River Homes Foundation was described today by Dr. Henry L. Shively, of New York, in a paper read before the Sociological Section of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

Dr. Shively said in part: The need of improved city dwellings especially adapted to the requirements of tuberculosis families and delicate persons liable to tuberculosis, has been a logical outgrowth of the demonstration in recent years of the good results obtained in sanatoria and the day camp for adults and in preventive and open-air schools for children.

The results obtained in them show that consumption is curable in its earliest stages in all climates if an abundance of fresh air and sunlight, baths, suitable nourishment, rest and watchful medical supervision can be obtained. These desiderata, it will be observed, are found only in the necessary conditions of healthful living, good food and well alike, and it ought not to be necessary in order to obtain them to send people away from their homes. For the relatively small number of poor patients, however, for whom sanatorium treatment is possible, the costly lesson learned is of no permanent benefit if upon their discharge from the sanatorium they are returned to the unfavorable living conditions which generated their disease. It would seem to be not impracticable to bring many of the best features of sanatorium care to the patient in his own home, where he can live as he may enjoy them as long as is necessary or he may desire.

Through the generosity of Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Sr., a series of modern hygienic tenements have been constructed in New York especially for this purpose of providing the best features of sanatorium and hospital treatment for tuberculosis in the patients' own home. These tenements have been named the East River Homes. There are four large fire-proof buildings, which will house 383 families. Every room has an abundance of light and air and all of the stairways are built on the outside. Each apartment also has arrangements for outdoor sleeping. Every precaution has been taken to make the walls and floors as sanitary as possible. The roofs are fitted up for outdoor life.

The East River Homes are not designed to be a mere charity, nor to produce income in the ordinary commercial sense. They are a humane and philanthropic investment which, with lower rentals than are asked for inferior accommodations elsewhere, it is expected may yield a sufficient return to encourage the construction of other similar buildings in communities where they are needed. The income from this particular group of buildings will, however, be devoted entirely to philanthropic objects, one-half at least to be directly expended by the trustees in the campaign against tuberculosis.

The Royal Society of London, the oldest British organization devoted to scientific research, will celebrate its 250th anniversary in July.

The wisdom of the Ages has produced no other remedy to equal S.S.S. for the BLOOD

There have been many new "blood remedies" placed upon the market since S. S. S. came into existence more than forty years ago. A great many of these were "fads" for a short period, some were introduced as "miraculous wonder workers," while others claimed to have the endorsement of the scientific world. But they failed in the real test and were unable to accomplish results credited to them, so one by one they have passed out of existence.

How different is the record of S. S. S.; this medicine has succeeded because it possesses merit; it cures blood diseases because it is a real blood purifier, composed of the most active and reliable ingredients. The length of time S. S. S. has been on the market, and the fact that more of it is manufactured and sold each succeeding year, proves its genuine worth beyond question.

S. S. S. is especially successful in the treatment of that peculiar blood disease so dreaded by humanity because of its stubborn nature and distressing symptoms. So intense is the virus of this trouble that it quickly permeates the entire blood supply, and usually produces such symptoms as ulcerated mouth and throat, brown spots on the skin, gradual loss of hair, pains in the limbs, skin eruptions, etc. S. S. S. has cured many thousands of the most aggravated cases; and it always cures permanently. It goes down into the blood and removes all germs, virus and poisons, and one who has been cured by the use of S. S. S. need not fear any future breaking out of the malady.

No other medicine acts with such satisfactory results in these cases as S. S. S. It is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks, each of which possesses blood purifying and tonic properties. This medicine takes hold of the disease at once by going directly into the circulation, and beginning the necessary work of driving the powerful virus from the blood. S. S. S. is thorough in its service; it leaves no trace of the old trouble, and when it cures, the blood is in perfect condition. S. S. S. may be used with absolute safety; it will not unpleasantly affect the stomach, bowels, or any other portion of the system. S. S. S. is the greatest of all blood purifiers and it cures because of this fact. If you are afflicted with this disease do not waste valuable time with experimental medicines, but write for our Instructive Treatment book and let us send you an abundance of proof that S. S. S. is the remedy most certain to cure you. No charge for the book or any special medical advice that may be desired. S. S. S. is for sale at drug stores.

THIS STORE AN OASIS IN A DESERT OF HIGH PRICES FOR 10 DAYS ONLY! A Terrific Sale Sending Death and Destruction to High Prices; Will Bring Thousands of People from Far and Near to Visit this Sale. THE TROUBLE IS THIS: C. W. Polvogt & Co., bought heavily anticipating a big Spring and Summer trade, but owing to backward conditions and a tardy season they have more stock on hand than they wish to carry—in fact, more than good business judgment warrants. This fact gives the strongest incentive to make this sale an unusual event. Stop for a moment and ponder and you will realize what this means. Polvogt & Co.'s entire high-grade and complete stock to be closed out in 10 days' time. Prices to go to pieces in all sections. Anything you buy is a bargain. In order to make this sale quick and decisive, we have employed the most effective weapon known to modern merchandising; that is not only the eliminating of every vestige of profit, but the cutting down deep into the vitals of the original cost of every article, item and garment in our store without reserve.

OUR GUARANTEE! Any article bought during this Sale not proving entirely satisfactory, or just as represented, will be gladly exchanged or your money cheerfully given back without question or quibble. Make us prove it.
